Death of Mr. D. R. Emerson.

Death of Mr. D. R. Emerson.

The sudden death of Mr. Darius R. Emerson on Monday, was a great shock to his many friends in Newton, as it came without warning. He had not been ill, and he passed away very suddenly at his home on Jewett street. The loss of his wife about three weeks ago, had affected his health to some degree, but he had been able to attend to business, and to be about as usual. Monday, he had retired to the library for a short rest. A domestic, who entered the room a short time afterward, found it impossible to roue blim. His son found it impossible to rou-e him. His so found it impossible to rou-e him. His son and daughter, who were in Boston, were immediately summoned, and also the medical examiner for the district, Dr. Mead of Watertown, who is his son-in-law. The cause of death is said to be heart failure. For the past fifty years Mr. Emerson had been one of the leading citizens of Newton, and he had taken an active interest in all.

For the past fifty years Mr. Emerson had been one of the leading citizens of Newton, and he had taken an active interest in all city improvements, and affairs generally, notably in the Newton hospital, to which was a generous contributor. He had been active in developing this section of the city, building many houses, which were always of attractive design and adding to the beauty of the city. His residence on the corner of Jewett street and Waban Park, was one of the most attractive in Newton, and was a centre of the social life of the city.

He had never sought or cared for office, but was actively interested in all that concerned Newton, and about eight years ago, consented to take a unanimous nomination to the board of aldermen, where he served one year, but declined a re-election, on account of his business cares. He was one of the leading supporters of Grace Episcopai church, and in local charities was a large contributor; the Associated Charlites, the Newton Home for Aged People, and the Newton home for Lind. In the hospital he was a member of the executive committee of the board of directors. His death will be a distinct loss to these institutions and also to the city.

In his business life he was very successful. He was born in Weare, N. H., some 77 years ago, where he was educated in the country schools, and in early life came to Boston to engage in business. His first venture for himself was a small store on Washington street, where he opened a fancy goods and dress trimmings store

Washington street, where he opened a fancy goods and dress trimmings store Success attended his efforts and increasing business led him to take a larger store on Winter street, and later he opened one of the first stores on Temple place, and has made it the leading store in Boston for the special line of goods kept there. His enterprise and close attention to business met with their reward, and he became one of the weatiniest merchants in Boston.

He leaves three children, Charles W. Emerson, who is junior partner in the firm of D. R. Emerson & Co., Mrs. Julian R. Mead, and Frederick Emerson, whose health complets him to live in the Adirondack mountain region.

PRETTY SCENE AT LASELL.

GIRLS OF THE SEMINARY GIVE THEIR ANNUAL MILITARY DRILL BEFORE AN ADMIRING GATHERING OF FRIENDS.

Although the day was a dull and gloom Although the day was a dull and gloomy one, all was life and activity Monday afternoon at Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, for it was the occasion of the annual drill of the students, who entered into the contest with all the enthusiasm of former years. The large main building, the trees, hedges and stone wall were artistically decorated and stone wall were artistically decorated with the class colors, that of class A being yellow, class B red and class C dark blue. At least one joke was played. The marks of the golf course lines bear a red heart. Such a decoration favored class B, but the members of A and C simply went about and covered each marker with their own colors.

The drill was held on the lawn at 2 30 o'clock, and never has the seminary wit-nessed a more interesting scene. The young ladies made a charming sight in their natty caps and blue blouses, and the young ladies made a charming sight in their natty caps and blue blouses, and the perfect marching and manocurves added much to the scene. The large number of witnesses, largely relatives and friends of the students, to say nothing of the Newton High schoolboys and students from the Institute of Technology, kept up round after round of enthusiastic applause, greeting their favorites with words of encouragement at every opportunity.

The company bavonet and sword drills, as well as the individual drill, were executed with great precision, and showed the careful training of the participants.

The drill exercises were somewhat different than in years gone by, the instructor, Lieutenant Charles A, Ranlett, having drilled the companies in the mode of gymnasties in vogue at West Point. It was something new for the girls, yet they made an excellent showing, and were warmly applauded for the schibition.

Shortly after 2 the program was begun with a drill by Co A, with Capt. Ida F. Trowbridge in command. Drills of Co G and Co B followed. Respectively commanded by Capt. Mary A. Houghton and Capt. Elia B Cotton. In the competition for the fact of the innoir and senior prize squads followed. The former was commanded by 1st Sergt. Agnes E Flaherty of Co B, and the latter by Capt. Mary A. Houghton of Co. The first senior prize, an oxydized silver badge, was awarded Lieut. Eva S. Raymond of Co B. First Sergt. Agnes E. Flaherty of Co B and cadet Emily A. Clemmens of Co A received honorable mention.

The first junior prize, a silver mallese cross suspended from a rifle, was captured by cadet Helen C. Wiedenmayer of Co B. Cadet Ethel L. Gallagher of Co A was awarded these cond junior prize, a silver shield suspended from a rifle, Cadet Bessie S. Krag received honorable mention.

Plant and Bird Collections.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

With all the abundant and widely varied activities of Newton social, philanthropic, political, educational physical, intellectual, spiritual, I often wonder if a Nature Study Course—by whatever name called, could not be established and well supported in a Newton paper, one or more. Of course, we are all of us nature lovers in one way or another, and in a greater or less degrees; and there are besides, many of all ages from seventeen to seventy, who, singly or associated, are in some way more or less actively interested in Natural History studies or recreations.

Let me give an example or two of what might be done. Formal study of plants, with the collection, pressing mounting and systematic arrangement in as herbarium is too time consuming and laborious to be attractive to many. Especially is this so, when we consider that increasing density of population steadily increases the distances which one must travel to find places wild enough to afford a season's supply of pretty wild flowers. But happily the natural desire to know something of at least the more attractive native plants, can be gratified without all this labor. Numerous popular books have been prepared in recent years to enable anyone to distinguish common wild flowers and trees, and when the dates and places of discovery are entered on the margin, the book soon becomes a pleasing memento of the successive summer seasons or outings.

But there remains another method that combines health and pleasure to a high degree. This is to maintain a bed of wild flowers in some corner of one's house-lot. Let me see, I now have growing on my place hepaticas, five kinds of forias. Of the railroad east of the station, or around "Indian Soring" a few rods over towards Wellesley Hills village.

Longfellows pond, Prospect Hill, Waltham, pastures around Eliot Memorial and the beautiful Waverley Oaks region, now pleasantly accessible by electrics from Mt. Auburn, are other good localities for wild flowers.

department to the residence of George C. Hobbs on Wildwood avenue.

When first discovered the blaze had gained considerable headway and was burning briskly between the partitions on the second floor. Members of the household were aroused and made a hasty exit. The firemen succeeded in confining the blaze to the upper story and the roof. It was necessary to use a large amount of water and consequently some damage resulted on this account. The entire damage will not exceed, it is believed, $1200.

The origin of the fire was investigated and started, so far as can be learned. From a defective flue.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Boston, May 31.

Boston, May 31.

The General Court has reached the end of the fifth month of its career, and still has a very fat calendar—especially in the lower branch, with an excellent prospect of a month's work ahead, at least. The chief hope of the Speaker and committee on rules is, that, when the railroad lease bills raies is, that, when the railroad lease offis come in, there will have been such thor-ough discussion of them in committee con-sideration, that the bills reported will pass without much discussion. This end may or may not be reached through the action the railroad committee has already taken in reporting adversely on the various pro-jects of the state control, state purchase in reporting adversely on the various projects of the state control, state purchase referendums, etc. There was an effort in the Senate last week to have an immediate consideration of some of these reports, but certain members insisted that they be tabled to await the main reports on the lease bills. The reader can see that if it had been possible to thresh out these rail. had been possible to thrash out these railnad been possible to thinks out these fair-road subjects in the next week or two, it would have cleared the way for the bills in an excellent manner. As it looks now, there will have to be more or less debate, and this will lengthen the session.

OUR SHIFTY LEGISLATURE.

Our present legislature is certainly the Our present legislature is certainly the most remarkable one that Massachusetts has ever had. A crowd of young boys could not change their minds with more celerity and dispatch on important questions, and the explanations that are given for these somersaults leave much to be desired. Every one likes to think well of the lagislators, of course, but the members of the present house and senate make this unusually difficult. They seem to be very virtuous at first, and oppose what the Jobby wants, then thinking apparently that they have established their reputation for official virtue, they turn about and yield abject obedience to the demands of the lobby. If they had voted for the measures that the Jobby desired in the first place they might plead that they really believed in them, but when they change for these somersaults leave much to be de first place they might plead that they really believed in them, but when they change their minds so often it looks as if they had only been helding out a higher price. So many measures are up this year in which corporations are interested that an annually large lobby is said to be hanging about the State House, and from appearances, merely, outsiders would say that the members usually succeed in getting their price before the measures are disposed of. Their sensational change of mind about the Westminster chambers bill last week was more than equalled by the changes on the telephone bill, by which the telephone company has succeeded in staving off state supervision for another year. It is no somepany has succeeded in rawing on state supervision for another year. It is no wonder that the members are reported to be getting very sensitive to the general disapproval of their course and some of them have become so excited that it is said they nave become so excited that it is said they are proposing to bar all newspaper men out for the remainder of the session. That would certainly be a very effective way of proving that their actions could stand the fullest publicity. The only restraining influence on some legislators is the fear of publicity, but of course this is not the case in Massachusetts, but it will take a good deal of course up to default this leg. ood deal of eloquence to defend this leg-

The rural papers designed for the beneal of people living on farms, are always interesting, especially their explanations of the way to do things without expending money, which is a scarce article in the grienitural districts. The Rural New Yorker has an article on how a farmer's daughter got up a dinner for the governor, which is considered of such merit that it is copied into the Boston Kitchen Magazine. It shows what can be done on a farm, with narrow means. This particular girl had been to school where she had learned how to cook, and so the announce ment that the governor was coming to dinner and there was no anoney in the family purse carried no terror to that headshold. There was plenty of farm THE rural papers designed for the benewilly purse carried no terror to that ushhold. There was pienty of farm educts and from these she got up the fol-wing bill of fare: raw oysters, which awayo revery farm; sauted fais, which may two been salt ood disguised and so was in with elives, which as every one knows grow freely in the country. They had killed the fatted calf and so had roust veal with potatoes and celery, and for the next course they visited the poultry yard aim killed some partridges which they roasted, as farmers live largely on partridges. Then this ingenious girl made a fruit salad out of oranges, pineapoles and bananas, all this ingenious girl made a fruit salad outof oranges, pineapples and banauas, all grown on the farm of course, and wound
ap with an orange charlotte, coffee, edam cheese and crackers. We are not surprised to read that the governor was delighted with this simple farmer's dinner, mad—up from the products of the farm, and without costing the old farmer a cent. But with such a cook as that the farmer ought really to take summer boarders. He could really to take summer boarders. He could easily fill all his spare rooms as city people are very fond of such simple country fare.

miles distant.

The hospital fire was attended by great excitement. When the attention of the hospital matron, Miss McDowell, was drawn to the blaze in the portion of the contagious buildings where scarlet fever patients are treated, she realized that the flames had cut off all communication be-tween this latter building and the admini-tration building. They are connected by a covered corridor, and this was burning

The thirteen scarlet fever patients were in great alarm and made it especially difficult for the matron and her nurses. These women, however, displayed great presence of mind.

The fire in the corridor cut off all possible escape, and the braye nurses lifted one by one, the fever-stricken patients through the window to the ground below. It was a trying task but skilfully handled by cool heads.

a trying task but skilfully handled by cool heads.
During the removal of the patients Miss McDowell pulled the hospital's private box 541, and the response of the me department was unusually speedy.
The wooden building, situated some distance from the hospital plant, built originally for a small pox ward, and at times used for cases of measies, was thrown open for the occupancy of the thirteen scarlet fever patients.

The scarlet fever ward is a one story frame building attached to the administration building and the didition used for the care of diphtheria patients. This lies at the west and shelters at the present time ten diphtheria patients. Among this latter group there was great consternation when the fire broke out as it was feared that the three structures would be consumed.

It is no exaggeration to say that the firemen controlled the blaze in a most commendable manner. Fear for the satety of the patients increased their energies no daubt, and the blaze was confined to the scarlet fever ward, the connecting corridor and the administration building. The interiors suffered considersble damage, and both roofs were badly burned. The loss will not exceed $3,000.

The contazions buildings were built about 10 years ago by the city of Newton and are now controlled by the directory of the Newton hospital corporation. There is $7,000 insurance on the buildings and $1000 to the furniture.

The fire r nders the hospital unable to care for any more scarlet fever patients and the present quarters in the vacant measies ward are exceedingly cranped. Measles cases will be cared for readily, although the proke out to the barn on Dedham early stage and hox 9 was immediately sounded.

It was a run of several miles for the fire apparatus and although they covered the ground as rapidly as possible, their efforts were of no avail.

It was impossible to obtain any water pressure and consequently the barn was a total loss. The building and contents, including three tons of hay, is valued at $2500 and is insured.

INTERPRETATION.

Like fishermen ceaselessiy casting
Their nets in the gulf of despair.
We draw from deep waters of sorrow
Dark wrecks of old failure and fear,
And out of sea silence we borrow
The storm that will never come near.

Faith speeds past the footsteps of duty
And halts at the door of a tomb;
Thought pierces the source of all beauty
And returns unto dust—"tis the doom
Of each man child to strive and to wonder,
To plan for some positive gain,
And only find mysteries under
All life, be it pleasure or pain.

All tite, be it pressure or pain.

Lo, in realms of the mind there is treasure.

For toilers who dwell in content;

There is truth that no science can measure,

And the fearless are never forspent;

There is light when earth shadows are falling,

There's reward for the deeds that are done,

Where envy crowned virtues are calling,

"Through faith is thy victory won!"

CAR FARES IN GERMANY.

The Method of Collection and In-spection Prevents Free Rides. The chances of evading fares on the street cars of German cities are very stight. When a passenger steps on a car, the conductor immediately asks where he is going and then prepares his ticket, which serves also as a re-ceipt for the fare. The preparation of a ticket consists only in detaching it from a block and punching it or mark-rrom a block and punching it or mark-ing it with a pencil.

This process involves much more work than the simple process of ring-ing up the fares, as conductors do in America, but the task is lightened by America, but the task is lightened by the fact that only a certain number of persons are permitted to ride on a car at the same time. The number of sitting and standing places is plainly marked on each car. If a car is designed to carry 30 persons, no more than 30 persons will be permitted on that car at the same time. When anything in Germany is forbidden, it is settled once for all.

In order that every person who rides shall get the prescribed ticket inspect-

In order that every person who rides shall get the prescribed ticket inspectors are employed who spend their time in ascertaining whether the conductors are doing their duty. These inspectors step into the cars and ask the passengers for their tickets. They note the number of the tickets and whether they consequent with the study retained by correspond with the stubs retained by the conductor. The clerk who gives out the blocks of tickets to the con-ductors notes the number of the upper-most ticket and at the return of each block collects from the conductor who returned it as many fares as there are tickets detached.

The rate of fares varies from 236 cents to 5, according to the distance. Small children are carried for one-half fare, and any one for the sum of $2.50 may secure a ticket which entitles him to ride as much as he wishes for one month. When a car is full, the conductor displays a placard bearing the word "Occupied."—Chicago Record.

The Best Age For Men to Marry.

The Best Age For Men to Marry.
Edward Bok, writing in The Ladies' Home Journal on "A Boy For a Husband," contends that "no young man under 25 years of age is in any sense competent to take unto himself a wife.
Before that age he is simply a boy who has absolutely nothing which he can offer to a girl as a safe fundation for life happiness. He is unformed in his character, unsertled in his ideas, absolutely ignorant of the first essentials of what consideration or love for a woman means. He doesn't know himself, let alone knowing a woman. He is full of fancies, and it is his boyish

"He is incapable of the affection up on which love is based, because he has not lived long enough to know what the feeling or even the word means. He is full of theories, each one of He is full of theories, each one of which, when he comes to put it into practice, will fail. He is a boy pure and simple, passing through that trying period through which every boy must pass before he becomes a man. But that period is not the marrying time. For as his opinions of life are to change, so are his fancies of the girl he esteems as the only girl in the world to make him happy. The man of 20 rarely weds the girl whom he fancied when he was 20."

A Freak of Lightning.

A Freak of Lightning.
Lightning performed a strange feat near Osceola, Pa., during the recent thunderstorm, says the Oil City Derrick. Three fine cows belonging to a farmer had been turned out to pasture in a field on which the new grass is already quite high, and when the shower came on they gathered together in one corner under some trees. There is a wire fence running close by the spot where they were standing, and a bolt of lightning was attracted to it and ran along the slender wires until the cows were reached, when it glanced off, were reached, when it glanced off, striking the animals and killing all three instantly.

A Story For Papa.

There is a moral in this little story of child life.
"Mamma," asked little 3-year-old Preddle, "are we going to heaven some day."

"Yes, dear, I hope so," was the reply.

"I wish papa could go, too," continued the little fellow.
"Well, and don't you think he will?" asked his mother.
"Oh, no," replied Freddie; "he could not leave his business;"

Does the man who worries about himself ever think that he is worrying about a thing of which the world makes little note?—St. Louis Star.

Whenever a mother's attention is called to her children, she makes a dive at them and wipes their noses.— Atchison Globe

There is something wrong with the appetite of a small boy who can wait patiently for his dinner.—Chicago News.

Norumbega Park.

Norumbega Park opened with a rush on Decoration Day, more than 19,000 people going to the resort. This is the biggest attendance for the date on record.

The menagerie is now the most plete permanent private "zoo" in country, containing many animals which country, containing many animals which cannot be found either in Central Park.

N. Y., or in the Washington 200. Mr. Homaday, who has charge of the New Bronx 200 in New York has been trying for several years to obtain specimens of the sable and fisher, but has been unsuccessful. The Norumbera menageric contains one of the former and three of the latter. Every animal native to New England can now be seen at the park.

The mysterious Chalet pleased the people immensely. The mirth provoking and mystifying performance did not quite draw the crowd from the rustic theatre, but it was well received by the hundreds who saw it.

Visitors are evidently unaware that a rustic shelter for canceits has been erected at the boat house. It is splendidly furnished and has an excellent refreshment counter and soda fountain. It can be used by people on the river, as one is not required to pay admission in order to visit it. cannot be found either in Central Park.

THE OHIO RIVER.

Many of Its Picturesque Features of the Past Are Gone. The Ohio is no longer the beautiful river it once was. It flowed in majesriver it once was. It for ed in majestic curves and sweeps through a limit-less paradise. The g'ary of that river in the barbaric splender of an autumn day was beyond description. Robed from the Alleghanles to the Mississippi in her gorgeous fabric of maple and sycamore, which everywhere drooped down to the stately flood, shimmering, bending in her course with considerate and majestic dignity, a trip on one of the brightly painted steamboats was the event of a lifetime. There was also a dignity in the steamboats. They did not pant and rattle like a locomotive. a dignity in the steamboats. They did not pant and rattle like a locomotive, nor were they silent like an ocean steamer. The long, huge steam cylinders, with deliberation and a soft though pervading sound, blew huge clouds of steam into the air. The river steamers were the Monte Carlos of the new world. Every one of them carried lits contingent of professional gamblers, each of whom had a "bowle" in his boot leg. These men, unmolested, traveled the year round between Pittsburg and New Orleans, fleecing the unwary and paying a percentage to the captains.

The Ohio is a noble river yet, though winding through forest denuded hills The orchards and cornfields are attractive. It promised once to become the Rhine in vineyards, but the grapes were smitten with a rust which destroyed the crops until the attempt was abandoned. It will never be recoved with feedly castles in rules. erowned with feudal castles in ruins, but the groves will be replanted, and another century end will see it once more the "beautiful river."—Chicago

NOTED ANAGRAMS.

Anagrams that transmute the names

Angrams that transmute the names of well known men and women are often startlingly appropriate. What could be better in this way than these announcements, evolved from two great statesmen's names when the reins of power changed hands: Gladstone, "G leads not!" Disraeli, "I lead, sir!" Quite as happy is the comment on the devoted nursing of Florence Nightingale, whose name yields "Flit on, cheering angel." Among those that are most often quoted we may mention Horatio Nelson, "Honor est a Nilo;" Charles James Stuart, "Claims Arthur's Seat;" Pilate's question, "Quild est veritas?" ("What is truth?"), answered by "Est Vir qui adest," ("It is the man here present,"); Swedish Nightingale, "Sing high, sweet Linda;" David Livingstone, "D. V., go and visit Nile;" the Marquess of Ripon (who resigned the grand mastership of Freemasons when he became a Romanist, "R. I. P., quoth Freemasons," Charles Prince of Wales, "All France calls, Oh, help!" Sir Roger Charles Doughty Tiehborne, baronet, "Yon horrid butcher Orton, biggest rascal here." And many shorter specimens, such as telegraph, "great help;" astronomers, "no more stars" and "moon starers;" one hug, "enough;" editors, "so tired;" tournament, "to run at men;" peniten, tournament, "to run at men;" peniten, of well known men and women are more stars" and "moon starers;" one hug, "enough;" editors, "so tired;" tournament, "to run at men;" penitentiary, "nay, I repent;" old England, "golden land;" revolution, "to love ruin;" fashionable, "one-half blas;" lawyers, "sly ware;" midshipman, "mind his map;" poorhouse, "Oh, sour hope;" Presbyterian, "best in prayer;" sweetheart, "there we sat;" matrimony, "into my arm."—Chambers' Journal.

Bank Washing Day.

In some banks there is a regular washday every month, usually at the beginning, when a clerk may be seen bent over a tub and rubbing real money up and down a washboard. The dirty greenbacks that have been saved up for a month are soaped and rubbed just like handkerchiefs and socks and are run through a wringer before being put out to dry. The paper currency may be handled somewhat roughly, as it does not tear because there is in it a great deal of silk and roughly, as it does not tear because there is in it a great deal of silk and linen. After the notes have been passed through the wringer they are hung on a line stretched in the bank clerks' department. Said one clerk the other day: "I wash about 100 notes every month, and when I'm done you can hardly tell them from new money. The washing strengthens as well as cleans the notes."—Philadelphia Record.

Paper Wheels.

Every wheel on a Pullman car is made of paper. You do not see the paper because it is covered with iron and steel. The body of the wheel is a block of paper about four inches thick. Around this is a rim of steel measuring from two inches to three inches. It is this steel rim, of course, which comes in contact with the rails. The sides are covered with circular iron plate, bolted on.

COUNTRY AND TOWN

COUNTRY AND TOWN.

God ma'e the country and man made the town. What wander, then, that health and virtue, gitts That can alone make sweet and bitter draft That life holds out to all, should most abound And least be threatened in the fields and groves? Possess ye, therefore, ye who, borne about In charlots and seedays know no fatigue But that of idleness and taste no scenes But such as art contrives, possess ye still Your element; there only can ye shime. There only minds like yours can do no harm. Our groves were planted to console at noon. The pensive wanderer in their shades. At eve The moonbeam, sliding softly in between Yhe sleeping leaves, is all the light they wish, Birds warbling all the music. We can spare The splendor of your lamps; they but cellipse Our softer satellite. Your songs confound Our harmonious notes. The thrush departs, Seared, and the offended nightingale is mute. There is a public mischief in your mirth; It plagues your examty. Folly such as yours, -William Cowper in "The Task."

And How They Gave Shape to an Engagement Ring. ......

When Dominicus Van Brunt first went to the public school in his adopt-ed country, he had the felicity of sit-ting opposite a little girl with freekles and blue eyes. Her name was Bertha Manderson, which was a difficult name for Dominicus to remember. But it was not at all hard for him to remem-ber the dear little girl with freekles. ber the dear little girl with freckles. She wore tiny black tassels at the top of her shoes and white aprons, ruffled and tied upon the shoulders with large, airy looking bows, and the ends of her smooth braids were tied with ribbons were the calver of the violet and you the now the color of the violet and now the color of the rose

Dominicus said to himself that in Amsterdam he had never known any little girl so freekled and so dear.

"I wish she would look at me," thought little Dominicus Van Brunt. But he thought it in Dutch, although when he spoke aloud he managed to make himself understood in English. It must be confessed that little American children are too egotistical to be polite. Thinking as they do that they are medded on the right pattern that can children are too egotistical to be polite. Thinking as they do that they are molded on the right pattern, they are inclined to regard all children differing from them as curiosities. They considered the round faced Dutch boy, with his shy ways and deferential manner to the teacher, a strange little fish indeed. And no one in all the school was more amused than the dainty Bertha, who looked at him covertly out of her gray blue eyes. However, she did not laugh at him. So Dominicus, who did not know that she was amused and who perceived only her aspect of gravity, thought her kinder than the rest and was grateful. If only she would have spoken to him or looked at him as if she were his friend, he would have had nothing more to ask. He could even have been patient with He could even have been patient with that terrible English language which every one around him was jabbering.

He determined to do something to call the attention of his freekled heart's own to himself, and one day he hurried into the schoolroom the first minute the doors were opened and laid three pear shaped yellow tomatoes on her desk. The scholars came, saw the pretty vegetables, and had little trou-ble in deciding from what source the tribute came. For who else in a fashtribute came. For who eise in a fashionable suburb would have yellow tomatoes, except the son of the Dutch gardener? The school indulged in unrestrained giggling, but Bertha, instead of participating, shot defiance from her gray blue eyes, and, turning

Bertha had a notion to go abroad, and, having the consciousness of her certif-leate of graduation in her trunk, she was in no haste to return to her home. So she lingered where she pleased, arrogantly directing the movements of her party, which consisted of a maiden aunt and an elderly second cousin. With this double chaperonage she was allowed to do almost anything she

It was natural enough that, having a local habitation, they should make some friends in the city, and so it came about that before they had been there long they were invited to dinner by an American lady, Mrs. Truax, whose husband was engaged in some mercantile American lady, Mrs. Frunx, whose his-band was engaged in some mercantile enterprise there.

The Trunx house was a cosmopolitan one, and at it the habitue expected to meet all manner of celebrities and humeet all manner of celebrities and human curios. Bertha, much elated at the prospect, whirled off, accompanied by her decorous relatives, arrayed for the occasion in the most unbecoming of their best silks.

"What dear old frumps they are," Bertha commented to herself. "I think the Amsterdam ladies will like them. They just suit this background."

They seemed to indeed and got on better than Bertha, whose youth condemned her to a subordinate place. This was not as it was in America.

This was not as it was in America Bertha reflected and permitted herself to indulge in a moment of homesickness as she sat apart, her glowing beauty unnoticed by the middle aged people who were paying their respects to her aunt and her second cousin.

"I have delayed for a moment for another guest." Mrs. Truax said. "I wished to present to your niece, Miss Manderson," she said, addressing Bertha's aunt, "a young man who is half an American. Ah, there is the bell now."

The man at the door announced a moment later.

The man at the door announced a moment later:

Bertha turned with an anticipation which she endeavored to subdue. It was not likely that the son of a gardener would be at the home of Mrs. Truax er would be at the nome of Mrs. Frust.
But in the young man who entered
Bertha saw with unmistakable recognition the amiable, soft eyes, the round

The Telephone Somersault.

[Boston Post.]

It is hardly necessary to speculate as to the influences which produced this change, remarkable, indeed, but no more remark-able than others which have characterized the business of this session. The telephone lobby was on hand and active.

The change of the original majority of three to one into an adverse majority of two to one was not brought about by dis-cussion, by argument or by the presenta-tion of any facts controlling the situation. After a full consideration of the matter, the House had passed the bill to its third reading without opposition. It killed the bill at the next stage for no cause of which any intimation is made public and for no reason that was openly stated. The action of the House is a freak, an absurding many large matter than the state of t

"WHERE COMFORT IS KING."

CAMPING ON LAKE CHAMPLAIN SHORES A DELIGHTFUL WAY OF SPENDIUG A VACATION.

For the summer camper-out there is no region more desirable from every point of view than the Vermont shores and the islands of Lake Champlain. This region which includes a dozen mainland towns bordering the lake and a whole county of islands is indeed a paradise for those who love to fish and hunt and camp. On all of the five islands, Grand Isle, North Hero, South Hero, Alburgh and Isle La Motte. the five islands, Grand Isle, North Hero, South Hero, Alburgh and Isle La Motte, as well as along the mainland shores are many delightful camping spots, and a score of established summer camps. There one may rent a camp complete or may rear his own canvas home and live happily until snow flies where "style is dead and comfort is king." With boating, bathing, fishing there are plenty of perch, rock bass, pike, pickerel, and gamy black bass in Champlain—driving or wheeling over the hard beach roads, one can pass a most delightful vacation. This section is exempt from mosquitos and other insect pests, and what is still more remarkable there are no fogs and one may sit on the lake shore in the early morning or evening with as much safety as at noon. A number of the most attractive summer camps in Vermont as well as a hundred delightful country resorts back in the Green Mountains, all of which are reached from Boston by the Central Vermont Railway line, are graphically described in "Islands and Shores of Lake Champlain," which a four cent stamp secures by addressing T. #### The Telephone Bill.

[Springfield Republican.] Members of the Legislature might as well make up their minds that all the tele-phone companies will never be ready for state supervision and regulation. If one company does not employ all its influence and its pull with local governments and members of the Legislature to stave off the same supervision which Massachusetts exercises over the railroads, another company will be ready to block the way. There will be no end to it. This puts of the day of regulation and leaves the public at the mercy of high charges and wasteful competition, both of which make against the people's interest. The way in which dity governments and town authorities permit themselves to be pulled and handed at the initiative of people having special interests to promote in this business is one of the instructive incidents of the time. Massachusetts long ago projected the policy of state supervision of her semi-public corporations, and this policy ought to be applied and adhered to in the case of the telephone business. company does not employ all its influence

Lasell Notes.

Notwithstanding the chilliness of the weather on Saturday afternoon, the juniors' lawn parly was well attended and much enjoyed. For the pleasure of such guests as might be musically inclined a hurdy gurdy poured forth its melodies, and for all who liked dainties there was bounteous provision of ice cream, strawberries and cream, and cake. Many of the students had friends as guests, and there was much merriment and an all round good time. Time, 2 30 p. m. to 5 p. m. On, the same afternoon occurred the

On the same afternoon occurred the annual pienic of the canoe club, under the direction and chaperonage of its popular captain, Miss M. E. Rausom. The time was from 5 o'clock till 8,30 in the evening. The party numbered thirty-six, including the invited guests of the young women, and they went in nine canoes. The Woodland Park Hotel turnished the luncheon, which was caten at a pretty spot some distance down the river, between Auburndale and Waltham. All declared the picnic a success.

Sunday was devoted by many of the churches to memorial services in honor of the dead of the nation, who fought so bravely for to preserve its unity. That held in the afternoon at the Congregational church of Auburndale, a union service, was especially good. There was fine music, appropriate to the occasion, and an earnest and touching address. The members of Post 62 of the G. A. R. were present. This service a considerable party of the Lasell students attended.

The weekly prayer meeting of the Lasell Christian Endeavor Society was led on Sunday evening by Mr. Colby, president of the C. E. Principal Bragdon, who has been for some time absent attending the sessions of the M E. gen-ral conference in Chicago, returned to Laseil on Tuesday.

The annual prize drill of the Lasell batta-lion took place on Monday, and despite the unfavorableness of the weather, was quite a success. Further comment on it will be found in another column.

Gladstone's Levity.
While Mr. Gladstone interested his audiences immensely by his endless flow of animated remarks and brilliant historical criticisms, he failed altogether to convey to them the sense of greatness. On Saturday, May 26, a plano recital was given by pupils of Miss Forbes, in the parlors of the Unitarian church. The program was most happily chosen, showing progressive work, also the remarkable advance made during the year, and the demonstration of the Faelion training was especially interesting. The solo numbers with one exception were played without notes, which is of itself a loud word in praise of recent and normal methods of instruction.

Mr. Herbert Thayer's fine voice was at its best as he rendered, 'I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say.' Miss Mabel Eager's violin solo, Handel's Largo, was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Wesley Wright presided at the organ. The pastor, flex,' W. Bishop, delivered a 10 minute patriotic address.

The Two Romeos. Joe Jefferson told this story: "David Joe Jenerson took this story: David Garrick and Spranger Barry were both playing Romeo at the same time in London. Barry played it at Drury Lane on the Monday and Garrick played it the next night at Covent Garden, and the town was divided as to which was the greater Romeo—in fact, there was quite a great excitement about it, and they acted it upon such different lines and with such marvelously different conceptions that the people argued the case as to which Shapespeare in-shall have to jump down from the bal-cony to him."

"I had gone to a small town in Misissippi to rest and recuperate, suh," said the colonel as he restored his glass to the table, "to rest and recuperate after my hard work in the state senarter my nerd work in the state sen-nte. I hadn't been there a day when I met up with a person who called him-self General Blum. He didn't have the look of a general, suh, but I didn't start in asking questions. I accepted his word that he had been a general his word that he had been a general—accepted his word as a gentleman does, and he invited me into the nearest barroom to imbibe a cocktail. We didn't imbibe. When the general called for drinks for two, his order was not taken. In other words, suh, as he didn't put down his money the cocktails remained unmixed. The general looked at me appealingly, but I turned away. I would not hurt his feelings by offering to pay for the drinks.

"Had General Blum stopped there all would have been well, but he did not stop. Next day he called on me to talk over the late wah. It wasn't ten minutes, with before I began to doubt him. I found that he didn't know the

Claiming to be a soldier and a gentleman, he selected pickaxes as weapons. Think of it, suhthink of a gentleman taking such a course! I refused, of co'se. Then he turned to plantation hoes, to cotton hooks, to hall clubs and to long handled shovels. It was my duty under the circumstances to preserve my dignity, and it has gone down in history that I preserved it. I insisted that we fight with sword or pistol, and I refused to dignlify him by debating his proposals. Then General Blum himself called to see me. He found me frigid and determined. 'Colonel Bunker,' says he, 'yo' have doubted my veracity, and I desire to shed yo'r blood. I desire to shed it by the quart and the gallon. If yo' are not a coward, yo' will meet me at sunrise across the rivet—across the river, suh! As the challenged party I have the choice of weapons. I will name scythes, suh—scythes—at two paces! earth some day is to be destroyed by a gigantic cataclysm, but fail to agree upon the "how." Dr. Henry Smith Williams, in writing in Harper's Monthly on "Some Unsolved Scientific Problems," says:

"If so much uncertainty attends these fundamental questions as to the earth's past and present, it is not strange that open problems as to her future are still more numerous. We have seen how, according to Professor Darwin's computations, the moon Darwin's computations, the threatens to come back to earth destructive force some day. Yet Pro-fessor Darwin himself urges that there are elments of fallibility in the data involved that rob the computation of

Thus it has been suggested that, even should the sun's heat not forsake us, our day will become month long and then year long; that all the water of the globe must ultimately filter into its depths and all the air fly off into space, leaving our earth as dry and as devoid of atmosphere as the moon, and, finally, that ether friction, if it exists, or, in default of that, meteoric friction, must ultimately bring the earth back to the sun.

Mr. Chamberlain appeared as counsel for the Waltham Street Railway Company, which had petitioned for a location in Waltham Street Railway Company.

Mr. Sinclair Williams, who had kindly Mr. Sinclair Williams, who had kindly volunteered to carry around a petition and solicit signatures in behalf of the Waltham Street Kailway Company, testified how great a demand there existed for the line and also how he had found many ready and anxious to sign. Mr. Williams had not forgotten what he considered the shabby treatment of the Newton Street Railway Company, when that corporation last year (according to him) declined to build the road despite a petition signed by fifty legal voters.

Company, when that corporation last year (according to him) declined to build the road despite a petition signed by fifty legal voters.

Mr. Powers questioned Mr. Williams in order to ascertain if there were many signers of the Waltham Street Railway Company's petition, who had later signed the Newton Street Railway Company's petition saying that when they had signed the former petition they believed they were signing a petition favorable to the latter road. In substance, did not Williams think that when he had said "Waltham line" or "Waltham road" the would-be signers had understood that he meant the Newton Street Railway Company. Mr. Williams was positive that no one could have misunderstood that he meant the Newton Street Railway Company. Mr. Williams, who said that he understood that when the petition in favor of the Newton Street Railway Company had been circulated some one had represented that the Waltham Street Railway Company had received no franchise for right of location in the city of Waltham to the Newton line. Here was a point of the Waltham line. It was then up to Mr. John A. Potter of West Newton. He did not hesitate in endorsing the Waltham Street Railway Company had received no fins ideas on street railway management. When Mr. Powers said "How long have you lived in Newton, Mr. Potter?" every one laughed and the answer, if there was any forthoming, was lost.

However, Mr. Potter acuded to the interest of the case by saying that the lady who had called upon him with a petition in behalf of the Newton Street Railway Company, had said that all the new road (meaning the Waltham).

Mr. However that he was the lady who had called upon him with a petition in behalf of the Newton Street Railway Company, had said that all the new road (meaning the Waltham).

Mr. W. H. Townes of California street was much in sympathy with the Waltham Street Railway Company, also that the Waltham Street Railway Company, had said that all the new road (meaning the Waltham).

Mr. W. H. Townes of California street was much i ceived, made them with new hopes.

Mr C. F. Avery of the school board was in favor of the Waltham Street Railway Company. He later admitted in response to Mr. Powers' questioning, that he owned 50 shares or one twelfth of the Waltham street Railway Company.

Mr. Powers closed the hearing on the etition of the Waltham Street Railway company it being understood that it should be looked upon as a remonstrance and in agon of the street was a street removed.

Mr. Powers refuted the charge that the Newton Street Railway Company had refused to build a line last year. He de scribed what kind of a road he represented, a road whose only aim was to sut public convenience, etc. Following along this line of thought he asked the board if they were disposed to try a new company or accept that by admitting the Waitham Street Railway Company into the city's boundaries

the possible consolidation of Newton lines would be thwarted. All roads in Newton of a new line might disturb the serenity.

decided to put the question to vote and an order authorizing the appropriating of the Waltham Street Kailway Company under a misapprehension. Mr. Powers also stated that he was authorized to say that the Wellesley & Boston, the Newton & Boston and the Newton will allow, if necessary, the Newton Street Railway Company permission to use its tracks, and also issue and exchange free Mr. C. E. Hatfield was called upon then ospeak in behalf of the Newton Street Railway Company's perition. His chief argament was that he had signed a petition in the interests of the Newton Street Railway Company, and then one in the interests of the Newton Street Railway Company, and then one in the interests of the Newton Street Railway Company, and then one in the interests of the Newton Street Railway Company. The first one he had signed without reading He was that its purpose and added ander a misapprehension, when the had signed without intentionally deceive him.

Mr. George Mansield was anxious that a road should be built. It didn't make much difference to him which road built it. He had signed both petitions saying, as Mr. Chamberlain expersed it, "give us a road and give it to us quick."

Mr. Avery said his principal reason for becoming a stockholder was that he might have some influence in the removal of the snow in winter.

Mr. Hewton Street Railway Company's petition. He informed Mr. Powers that the people who resided in his district did not go to Boston by way of Newtonylle and Newton, but by way of Watertown, when the Watertown selectmen allowed the Newtonyille & Watertown Street Railway Company permission to run its cars through Watertown square. He also criticised the rolling stock of the Newton Street Railway Company saying "There is a public corveyance which enters Newton square half-hoorly which I venture to say cannot be duplicated in a country village. It is called the Bemis car."

Mr. Coffin, president of the Newton Street Railway Company; resented any criticism on the Newton Street Railway Company; rolling stock. He explained how improvements had been willingly made within all bounds of economior reason.

Mr. Chamberlain, in closing for his road, said that there was nothing new in the opposition. He thought the new road had as much right as the old one. Each time a new company had been formed the Newton Street Railway Company forgot its own humble beginning. Then Mr. Chamberlain read the history of the Newton Street Railway to show that from the start the Newton Street Railway to show that from the start the Newton Street Railway and anticipated Newton being covered by electric arrives. And the start the Newton Street Railway and some of the start the Newton Street Railway to show that from the start the Newton Street Railway to show that from the start the road from receiving any show.

Mr. Chamberlain then said that the harmony was remarkable. There used to be bitterness among these different Newton lines, but they all got together nicely to keep out any ser mains the streets in question. Mr. Chamberlain said that that was all that could be done by citizens who desired accommodations from street railways. Under the law they could petition the board of aldermen that permission be given a road already in existence, but not one that was yet to be formed. In closing Mr. Chamberlain bonds, etc., and issue free transfers.

Mr. Powers said to clear away doubt in any ones mind, that the Newton Street.

furnish bonds, etc., and issue free transfers.

Mr. Powers said to clear away doubt in any ones mind, that the Newton Street Railway Company had already permission to use the Newtonville & Watertown Street Railway Company's tracks on Walnut street, a right which it had yet seen fit to exercise, and a right the new Waltham line did not possess. At 9.20 the hearing was closed.

The service was made of scripture reading, prayers and hymn. The officiating elergymen included Pres. Wood, former president Hovey and Prof. English. There was singing by a choir of mixed voices, The baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Pres. Wood. His text was taken from Hebrews ix, 16: For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator."

Hotrows ix, 10: For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator."

In the beginning of his discourse Pres. Wood defined at some length the meaning of "testament" and "covenant," and pointed out the marked reverence with which both were held by the Hebrews.

Taking the life of Christ as a living testament Pres. Wood said: "It exhibits the marvelous wealth of God's love. We might have examined the flowers, studied their petals and watched their growth, and we might have studied the forces and the powers of nature. Of course we would have been astounded. Yet how should we have known of God's love unless by his son.

"Jesus revealed the wealth of the providential care of God. Even the fail of the sparrow is known, and every hair in thy head is numbered. Only as God puts it could we be under his personal care. "In guiding man God illuminates the wealth of spiritual glory. He illuminates the seek it.

"There is no man who does not struggle if he be a true man. Who is there among ideals and bids man seek them. He illuminates the spirit of God and bids man seek it.

"There is no man who does not struggle if he be a true man. Who is there among men who has not said," Ishall fall unless there is a diffusion of divine strength?" Who has not said, I can overcome my life with the power of Jesus Christ."

"Man knows he may reach the ideals set so clearly before him by Jesus Christ. Christ can forgive sin. He knows the innermost life of every man and the secrets of his heart. He helps him to noble his life that man may be lifted up."

Continuing that portion of his address descriptive of the spiritual force of Christ's life. Pres. Wood said: "Then came the death of the testator.

"When Jesus, the testator, died, the testament became available. There was nothing to append. Christ's death closed and opened the will." Christ gave warning of the coming after of those who would say they had that which should be added. The contents of the will or the testament are not to be altered, not to be changed in the slightest detail.

"As in Hebrew times religion is intensely real. We ourselves are under a ovenant with Jehovah. We have the contents of the will for our own use. We are supplied with the provisions of the will of God.

"It is with no little solemnity that we

of the with the provisions of the will of God.

"It is with no little solemnity that we send out from our institutions these young men and with no little solemnity we receive others for a similar teaching.
"To those of you who go forth to preach the word of God I say there is a lesson. All revelations of God are yours. The testament and the will are available to you. God has given you the conditions of the will for your use.
"God has given you the spirit which you should use. It is a great thing to stand anid the turnoil and confort thyself with the thought that thou possessed with the testament of God and the conditions of his will."

was a busy one for the students, the great er portion of it being taken up with examination. The first examination took piace at 10 o'clock in the morning in Colby Hall, when the middle class was examined in Theology by President Wood. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock, Prof. Hovey conducted an examination of the senior class in Christian ethics.

The main event of the day was the public meeting of the Knowles Rhetorical Society, held Tuesday evening in the Newton Centre Baptist church. It was attended by a large number of persons, including residents of Newton Centre, students from the institution and members of the faculty. The address was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart McArthur of New York, who spoke on "The Bible and Some of Its Manifold Ministries."

Dr. Hovey Reviews the Record of the Institution.

The greater part of Wednesday's exercises in connection with commencement at the Newton Theological Institution were commemorative of the 75th anniver sary of the founding of the seminary sary of the founding of the seminary. Special interest is attached to this year's exercises, as they mark the retirement from the head of the institution of the Rev. A Ivah Hovey, for over half a century its venerable president. While the Rev. Nathan E. Wednesday's exercises were held in the First Bapital church at Newton Centre, which held several hundred persons, including students, members of the faculty and prominent Bapitat divines from all parts of the country. The front seats were occupied by members of the graduating class, while on the platform were President Woods, ex-president Alvah Hovey, the Rev. H. p. Burrage of Boston, Prof. English and others.

The exercises commenced at 3 o'clock, and included singing of hymns, prayer by Mr. Burrage, and a memorial and historical address by Dr. Hovey, who reviewed the progress made by the institution during the last quarter of a century. He called particular attention to the Hils Library, the gift of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Hills, which was dedicated five years ago. The endowment fund, he said, had grown to $375,000 of which $56,000 had been for scholarships. He highly complimented the work of the officers of the institution, and also that of the members of the faculty with whom he had been associated for somany years.

At the closing of his address, Dr. Hovey was warmly applauded. The singing of an original poem by him, the words of which were set to music by Robert Lowry, brought the services to an end.

In the evening the annual oration before the members of the faulum association was delivered by the Rev. John B. Gough Pidge, D. D., of Philadelphia.

THE NEWTON CEMETERY

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CORPORA

The annual meeting of the Newton Ceme try Corporation next Monday is especially called to the attention of lot owners, and they will find the cemetery more beautiful than ever this summer. The cool weather has produced the greenest of lawns and foliage and the frequent rains have filled the chain of ponds, so that everything is now in its most attractive state. The frost last Tuesday destroyed nearly $3000 worth last Tuesday destroyed nearly $3000 worth of bedding plants, which had been set out in the numerous beds that give such beauty to the walks and drives, but this has now been mostly repaired and new plants have taken the place of those that were killed. This week the green houses have been mearly emptled of their contents, to fill up the tropical beds that are placed in sheltered spots, where all varieties of tropical plants can be seen. Among the most attractive are the bamboos, of which the cemetery has a good stock, and they are twenty leet high and upwards, and give an idea of what fish poles are made of. The foliage is very fine and makes these plants very attractive. There also is a great variety of palms, ferns and foliage plants very attractive. There also is a great variety of palms, ferns and foliage piants and the exercises there were not more than the usual number. Early in life Mr. Barker went to Cincinnatti, O., where he engaged in the steamboat business. He became very successful and soon became one of the most prominent eitzens, During the Civil War he was actively engaged in the transportation of troops along he Ohio river.

Mr. Barker, with his five brothers and one sister, was present at the laying of the cornerstone of Bunker Hill monument. He retired from active tusiness life about 10 years and, and for the past 18 years had been a C. Coffin at 144 Bellevung trees. He leaves four daughters and three sons.

The Inneral services were held at the house, Sunday afternoon, at four o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke, pastor of Chanting church. A number of favorite selections of the deceased were rendered by the Albion Male Quartet. Monday, the remains were taken to Cincinnati, Ohio, where services were held in the chapel of Spring Grove cemetry, Tuesday afternoon. The interment was in the family lot.

Howard B. Coffin,

for nearly 24 years engineer of steam fire engine 2 at Newton Centre.

With thanks for printing the article last week, I would like now to follow it up with another one on birds. "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." This, like most sayings, is true within certain limits, hand is worth two in the bush." This, like most sayings, is true within certain limits, or in a certain sense, and no further. It is simply a pretty way of saying that sure possession is much better than uncertain hopes, or doubtful prospects. But it is just as true in another way, that a live bird on a bush or in the air is worth forty dead birds on cabinet shelves, For instance, "Bird Neighbors," a recent work with many very good colored plates, says of the "Yellow Billed Cuckoo," that I often hear among my trees, though it is not easy to see him, that "one cuckoo in an apple orchard is worth a hundred robins in ridding it of caterpillars and inch worms." but not because it eats more than a robin, but because "it delights in killing many more of these than it can possibly eat." Is not, then, a cuckoo a family and neighborhood treasure, and a first rate help to farmer and gardner?

But these are only practical considerations. The things besides usefulness that make birds attractive are their forms, odors, attitudes, motions and habits. Of these five attractions how many do we find in the killed and stuffed bird? The first two, and no more. The attractions of their life are more and greater than those of their life are more and greater than those of their life are more and greater than those of their life are more and greater than those of their life are more and greater than those of their life are more and greater than those of their life are word and the more good we get. There is technolid more pieasure and benefit in watching live birds, out of doors, in Cabot's woods, at Echo Birdge, Woodland Groves, (nearly opposite the Cottage than in looking at their lifeless, smotioniess in museums. The one single advantage of museum collections is that they you are as nature's great messent of liveg, shows many far away birds that most of as could otherwise never see.

I have been a substantly of the all years of the life are a while, and have the area and those to each of you separately, and so making separate priva or in a certain sense, and no further.

and may be ferrorten after a waite, and left to destruction, which makes a dead loss to all who want to see and know living high sand have the benefit of their useful if the sand have the benefit of their useful if the sand have the benefit of their useful if the sand have the benefit of their useful if the sand have the benefit of their useful if the sand have the benefit of their useful if the sand have the benefit of their useful if the sand have benefit of their useful if the sand have benefit of their useful if the sand have seen that are new to them. On May 19th, last, I had a long and delightful sight of a pair of rose breasted grosebeaks flitting about in trees cose to my house. I was happy indeed, for another pird beok, ("Our Common Birds and How to Kaow Them,") says of this one: "A beautiful, but rather rare bird; and the day on which its acquaintance is made may be justly regarded as a most fortunate one." Again, on May 25, at Wellesley Farms, first six, only for a minute or two, a pretty bird, with yellow throat and breast, "heavily streaked with black," and with 'loud, clear rapid whistle," that my two bied books together, make me think was the "Magnodia Warbler."

Then go on and form your bird clubs, (but with no clubs for the birds), persuade your loving friends to give you some one of the popular bird books (there is a cheap school edition of "Bird Neighbors," and there are other good ones), and go forth, with note book and penell, and perhaps a spy glass, or a small opera glass, (sing round your neck so that you can't lose it,' and watch the bleds, write down their colors, shape, size, knotions, song and ways, until you feel sure that you know your bird. Then, when you reach home, write the date and place of his discovery, if you like, nearly, in me writing, in the margin of your bird-book. This can be done in laker years. You may become such a bird lover, that by long sittings where birds love to be, and skilled bird calls learned from them, they will come to you. Such things have been, as yon

—There were two alarms for fires in Upper Falls the past week. One fire was caused by the explosion of a gasoline lamp in a house on Mechanic street. The other fire was on Eliot street, but might have been extinguished with a pail of water. The damage by both fires was very slight.

At the meeting of the quarterly conference at the Methodist Episcopal church, considerable business was transacted. By a unanimous vote Mr. H. Alonzo Sherman was made a local preacher and given his minister's certificate. We all congratulate him on his appointment and wish him success in his new vocation.

-The Newton Upper Falls Free Reading room is not so well patronized as it ought to be during these warm nights, but we hope in the fall to have a fuller attendance. All the leading periodicals of the day can be found there and we invite all strangers who have not yet visited the rooms to do so.

-The arrangements for the lawn party to be held on Saturday afternoon, June 16, on the grounds of the Wade school, are progressing. The teachers and friends of the kindergarten and primary departments are most grateful for the ready response given the solicitors. Read carefully the filer which will find its way to your door on or before Monday, June 11th.

on or before Monday, June 11th.

—Rev. J. P. West, the pastor of the Methodist church, has decided to give four Sunday evenings with some of the Prophets of the Christian faith. Sunday evening, June 3, his subject was "Savonarola," the unsuccessful reformer. On Sunday evening, June 10, he is to preach about Martin Luther, the leader of the Protestant Reformation in Germany. Mr. West also has special topics for his Friday evening prayer meetings.

—What might have been a very serious accident happened last Tuesday. The electric car was whizzing along High street at a very rapid speed and when it reached Winter street it came very near colliding with the market wagon of Mr. W. K. Dunham. Had the driver not turned his horse directly around, in another instant some one surely would have been killed. The way the conductors speed along High street is something frightful, and unless they go slower an accident will surely happen. It is the most dangerous place along the whole route as the track is so very near the sidewalk.

-Mr. Ernest A. Burrows of Hizhlandville and Miss Hattle McMahon of this village, were married at St. Mary's parsonage by Rev. Fr. Reardon, at 7 o'clock, Wednesday evening. Mr. Fred McMahon was best man and Miss Mary Thompson, bridesmaid. The bride was gowned in white mouseline de sole, trimmed with lace and flowers. She carried roses. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Winter street, immediately after the marriage ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Burrows will enjoy a wedding trip through Maine.

A correspondent sends the following:
"A Boston paper of last week contained an item in regard to having a bath house erected on the lanks of the Charles river enclosed by Hemlock gorge reservation. As this spot in years past has been a noted place for boys and men in this vicinity to swim in, until the time of its seizure by the Metropolitan Park Commission, it seems that if the permission of the commissioners can be obtained, a bath house on the river would fil a public need. If a fund could be raised in this village large enough to meet the expense of erecting, some such building might be allowed by the commissioners, if they felt that public opinion and interest in the matter demanded it. Perhaps this cannot be brought about this season, but if the public spirited people will take hold, no doubt some satisfactory result will be forthcoming in the end."

in The Summer

of life a woman may find herself fading and failing. She doesn't understand it. She goes to doctors, who treat her for this or for that, but she gets no better. She grows frail and pale. She can just "drag about the house," but has no pleasure in life. Many such women have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, and have been restored by Dr. Pierce's treatment to perfect health. There is no more wonderful medicine for women than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Its action upon the womanly organs is at once apparent in the decrease of pain and the increase of strength. It cures fem ale weakness and such diseases as take away the strength and beauty of women.

THE STREET RAILWAY CONTEST

When two street railway companies desire the same location there is bound to be an interesting contest, and hence Monday night's session of the board of aldermen was an unusually lively one. The location in question is Crafts, Waltham and Walnut streets, which will furnish a short line to Waltham, and also accommodate the people along the route, who are now at a considerable distance from any street car line. The Newton company has the advantage in having permission to use the Newtonville & Watertown Company's tracks on Walnut street.

The other company is known as the Waltham Street Railway Company, although it has Newton men interested as subscribers to its capital stock, but it is an independent road, and on that account is favored to its capital stock, but it is an independent road, and on that account is favored by many people, who do not like the remarkable bond of union that exists among all the Newton Street Railway companies, which now compose one happy family in this city and are willing to do all sorts of favors to each other, from lending cars and tracks to allowing the same men to represent them. The Waltham company has the advantage of having been granted a location in Waltham.

tion in Waltham.

Mr. Powers appeared for the Newton-companies and kept the board and the listeners good natured while he showed the advantages of the present unanimity and the probable consolidation of all the com-panies in the near future, which might be prevented by the giving of the location to panies in the near future, which might be prevented by the giving of the location to this new company.

Some of the witnesses showed some feeling because the Newton company had done nothing about building this line a year ago and claimed they were not treated well by the officials, and evidently some mistake was made, which the officials now regret. The location asked for will open up one off the finest sections for building purposes in Newton, as the land is mostly elevated with fine views, and there is a gradual slope to the river, which is to be improved sooner or later by the Charles River Companiesion, and this improvement is bound to add to the attractiveness of this section. A line through it might not be immediately profitable, unless it took away enough through patronage from the old Newton company, but it is bound to be profitable at some future time.

The city is chiefly concerned in what econcessions it can obtain from the competition and it would seem to be a good time to begin to draw the linesa little tighter than they have been in granting former locations. With two companies petitioning amore stringent regulations can be adopted than 4f there were only one, and satisfactory concessions should be obtained without difficulty. Either company would of course be required to give transfers over the other lines, and keep lits tracks in good condition, winter and summer.

A telegram from Los Angeles, Cal, announces the death of Mr. Elihu Smead, formerly of Newtonville, and a prominent formerly of Newtonville, and a prominent resident of Newton. He was born in Shelburne and came to Newton in 1871, conducting a very successful grain business for several years. He took an active interest in all city affairs and had many friends throughout the city. His family was prominent socially, and his sister, Miss Amelia Smead, was a member of the school board. Mr. Smead moved with his family to California in 1885, and boagh a large tract of land in Antelope Valley, and engaged in fruit and unit culture, in which he met with success. #### Norumbega Park.

It is unfortunate that the Cosmopolitans can stay but one week at Norumb ga Park, can stay but one week at Norumb garark, as they could easily stand another engagement there. The management of the park has adopted the policy of giving new performances each week, so after Sunday, the New York Vaudeville Stars will be there to replace the Cosmopolitans.

New York Vaudeville Stars will be there to replace the Cosmopolitans.

This week's audiences have been impartially appreciative of all the teams of the Cosmopolitan Company, Nelson, Glinsereti and Demonio have been very well received on account of their nimble and daring tumbling and work on the horizontal bar. Reed's acrobatic terriers are running them a close second, for certainly no dogs have ever shown better training than have these. Bright dialogue, new sougs and clever dancing characterize Lang and Sharpe's sketch "The Hawker" which makes a great deal of fun. The novel instruments and queer tone effects thereon, of the Goolmans, have caucht on at once, and the team has been called out for several encores at each performance Morgan and Otto are very amusing in a Datch act with some wooden shoe dancing.

The restaurant at Norumbega is pleasing the inner man as much as eyer. Almost in the centre of Boston's garden district, it is prepared to furnish forth a fewst, as excellent in proportion as the other attractions at the park.

at the funeral of Abner D. Colby, engineer of steam fire engine 3 of Newton Centre for nearly 24 years, which took place this morning at 9 at his residence on Everett street, Newton Centre.

Friends and comrades of the permanent and call force of the fire department, fellow veterans of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., Mayor Wilson, Street Commissioner Charles Ross, members of the city government and city officials were gathered about the bler this morning.

Services were conducted by Rev. G. H. Spencer, pastor of the Newton Centre Methodist church, and were of a simple and impressive character. Rev. Mr. Spencer's words of eulogy were particularly sympathetic and expressive.

Many floral tributes of rare beauty were laid upon the coffin and included a floral badge from the entire department, Post 62 G. A. R.; a huge floral anchor from engine 3 company of the fire department; a wreath from officers and patroluen of police station 4, Newton Centre; a large cross from members of the highway department, and many personal tributes of love from friends throughout the city.

The pallbearers were Messrs, Graham and Daniel Hurley representing Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., Messrs. English and Thomason representing the call members of the fire department, and Messrs. Huggard and Cumminus representing the permanent force of the department, The body was removed to Mannelester, N. H., this morning, where special services will be held and the interment made.

A NEW HOSPITAL.

Boston, modern and up to date in all things, is noted for its many hospitals—hospitals for the treatment of all diseases and troubles, conducted by all schools and representing all shades of medical belief. Yet with this long list my attention has been attracted during the past week to a new hospital, with all appointments for succe ssfully treating the most difficult cases brought in, and where a staff of experts is always at hand, ready to attend to natients. This institution has been established at Nos. 77 9F franklin street by the Metropolitan Manufacturing Company for the treating of clothes wringers and carpet sweepers which have become disabled from any cause, and they will send their ambulance wagon for any subjects needing attention; will treat and return them rujuvenated and with their terms of usefulness greatly extended. This is no dream either. The above company will repair clothes wringers and carpet sweepers, and return them in good order. So bring on your cripples. Boston, modern and up to date in all

THE OVERLAND TRAIL By M. Quad

Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.

In the old days of the overland trail, the pony express and the lumbering stagecoach stage stations had been erected at a distance of 15 miles apart erected at a distance of 15 miles apart throughout the length of the whole trail. After the first 30 miles from the Missouri river no coach was safe from attack until it reached San Francisco. It was a misnomer to say the stations were "erected." Most of them were dugouts—that is, a hole or cellar four or five feet deep was dug and then covered with slabs of timber to support two feet of dirt. The stables were made in the same way, while the hay was stacked. There was generally an underground passage leading from the house to the stables. House and stables were loopholed for rides, the doors constructed of timber or covered with boiler iron, and there was not one of them which was not attacked a dozen times over. The Indians could not use fire as a weapon, nor could they carry a station by assault, but they captured many of them by trickery or siege. In no case was the life of a company employee ever spared. The distance between stations, with the feeble garrison maintained at each, prevented any hope of relief in case of attack. Indeed the orders were: "Defend your own station. Only the last man alive is to break through the Indians if he can."

tween stations, with the feeble garrison maintained at each, prevented any hope of relief in case of attack. Indeed the orders were: "Defend your own station. Only the last man alive is to break through the Indians if he can."

Never were greater hardihood and bravery exhibited than by the men selected to drive the coaches. Knowing what the risks were, it seems strange that any passengers could have been found to fill them, but in the last two years preceding the opening of the Pafound to fill them, but in the last two years preceding the opening of the Pacific road the coaches averaged five passengers each way, and many of these were women. At a few points on the long route a guard rode for a few miles with the coaches, but for most of the distance the driver and passengers must take care of themselves. There was hardly a week without its tragedy. As the stage toiled through the heavy sand of some strip of desert or met several miles of stony and up hill trail a band of a hundred yelling or met several miles of stony and up hill trail a band of a hundred yelling warriors would suddenly appear. The driver must fight as well as guide his excited team. The passengers fired from the open doors, and if the attack was beaten off it was a case of luck. It was when the Overland company final-ly appealed to the government to clear its route through Kansas that General Custer was sent out with a brigade of If appealed to the government to clear its route through Kansas that General Custer was sent out with a brigade of troopers. Fourteen stations had been attacked and wiped out, and stages had ceased to run over a distance of almost 200 miles. Custer could not hope to strike a teiling blow against the hordes in the field, but he hald his plans to open the route and drive the Indians back from it. As we followed the trail to the west we picked up station after station showing grewsome sights. Seeach and every case a stout defense had been made, but the Indians had prevailed. Kegs of powder had been used to blow open the doors or tear out the roofs, and even though the warriors had lost ten to one they had destroyed the station. Burning Hill was a relay station, with eight men to guard it and care for the extra horses. The last stage from the east had come in after a race of five miles, with the driver and three male passengers wounded—some of them twice Caster was sent out with a brigade of trooper. Fourther stations that a bright of the control of feated. Over 200 Indians had swarmed down out of the hills at daybreak the morning before, and, though they had lost a score of men, the dugout had been earried by assault and its defenders butchered. We waited here half an hour to give the poor corpses burial and then pushed on toward White Horse. It was not until we got within two miles of the station that our fears were relieved. Then we heard the reports of rifles and knew our fears were relieved. Then we heard the reports of rifles and knew that the place was still holding out.

The station was situated about midway of a long, bare hill. To the west of it was a coulee, or dry ravine, with banks 20 feet high. We had with us a couple of scouts who knew every rod of the overland trail, and when within a mile of the station these men were sent forward to spy out the situation. They returned after awhile to report that Spotted Horse and about 150 of his "dog soldiers," as the Cheyennes were called, were laying slege to the his "dog soldiers," as the Cheyennes were called, were laying slege to the station and had evidently occupied the ground for two or three days. The ground around the dugout was so open that the Indians dared not "rush" the that the Indians dared not "rush" the place, nor was there any show to use a keg of powder without reckless exposure. With their allies holding the trail to the east, the Cheyennes had entered upon a slege in hopes to starve the employees out. Their war ponies and most of the band were lying up in the day raying for the public. This ray and most of the band were lying up in the dry ravine for the night. This ravine had no opening to the south and was therefore a cul de sac.

The first signs of dawn were in the sky when we saddled up, mounted, and the whole of us pushed forward, led by the scouts, for the mouth of the ravine. We had the Spencer carbines, each with a full magazine, and as we got the order to charge each man began shooting. When a carbine was empty, it was thrown away and a revolver used in its place. When the revolver was empty, it was cast aside for dead Indians, and on the banks above the stage men counted up 22 more. We got upward of a hundred rifes, about 50 pistols, 130 ponies and a wagon load of miscellaneous stuff. Every Indian of miscellaneous stuff. Every Indian lying there was a dead one. Custer had said, "Shoot to kill," and there were no wounded or prisoners. Among the killed were Spotted Horse. Big Moon and White Bird, and that fight broke the backbone of the Cheyenne nation. Their part in the war was to capture all the stations west of Burning Hill but they had only taken Payer. ring Hill, but they had only taken Paw-nee Flat. They never rode to war again. Within a week they were su-ing for peace, and they were the first to be gathered on a reservation.

the brow of the victor in the old Olympian games or the head of some triumphant general was composed of bay leaves. The bay is Laurus nobilis, and thus the wreath or crown has been called laurel or bay, according to the whim of the writer. The bay was considered by the ancients to be an antidote against poison and a security against lightning. Its leaves were used to provide a pleasing incense, and a spray of bay was carried in the gaffinents of all superstitious persons as a guard against all dangers. It is interesting to note how the laurel or bay has passed down to these more prosaic times. The heads on medals, coins, etc., are almost always crowned with laurel. Then we have a poet laureate, or the poet crowned with laurel—that is to say, the chief poet of the times. Again, the title of bachelor, won by exceptional skill in connection with art or science, takes us back to the middle ages, when young doctors were crowned with laurel—Loydon Gardener's Magazine.

The General Court is still plodding along, seeking to work up the great body of legislation piled up before it. The last matter in the House calendar is the bill to provide an additional supply of water for the town of Brookline. Whether it will be opposed or not depends somewhat upon the question of whether the manufacturers along the Charles river and the park interests are satisfied with the new form in which the bill has been drawn. Representative Langford may be depended upon to permit no water hill.

the park interests are satisfied with the new form in which the bill has been drawn. Representative Langford may be depended upon to permit no water bill being reported which will seriously damage the interests in his district.

On Thursday the program indicates a field day on the Boston & Albany lease matter. Although the committee on railroads has made no report as yet upon the main proposition, it has adversely reported a number of matters which relate to it, meet of them lawing to do with the State purchase of the road, or a referendum on the question of whether it shall be taken by the Commonwealth. Test votes have been taken in the committee, which indicate that the lease both will be favorably reported, and week as a special committee that seem to work drawing it up. The understanding is that several amendments will be inserted in the bill so as to provide for a full safeguarding of the interests of Massachusetts stockholders and the patrons of the road, among them being provisions for a continued supervision by the Commonwealth, for book-keeping which shall separate everything relating to the Boston & Albany from the other lines controlled by the New York Central, etc.

Mr. Chadwick shows grat discretion in continuing to hold upon the table of the House the remarkable petition of Mayor Wilson for legislation to authorize the mayor and chief of police of a city to summon witnesses on matters relating to the discipline, efficiency, appointment or removal of police officers. Doubtless, the table will be attacked in a rush one of these days and stripped of its contents, some 40 reports, adverse and otherwise. In the crush Mr. Chadwick may succeed in getting the adverse report on this bill adopted before it is noticed by the eagle eye of the curious. If he does, it will be lucky for him.

before it is noticed by the eagle eye of the curious. If he does, it will be lucky for him to the control of the curious. If he does, it will be lucky for him to the curious. If he does, it will be lucky for Mr. Chadwick conceals his chagrin over the defeat of his frecracker bill very nicely. A great many meimed enthusists are likely to bless his memory and heartily wish that he had better luck with his bill than has been the case. The fact is that the opponents of this bill have rather decived the members of the General Court by attempting to show that the cannon cracker is less dangerous than its Chinese brother, for the reason that the latter sets fires, while the former never does. But one may with some degree of safety hold the Chinese cracker in his hand while being discharged, while if he does this with the cannon cracker, he will probably be minus a finger. In the bottom of the cannon cracker is a composition of chloride of potash, charcoal and sulphur. When this burns it forms a gas which fills the vacancy in the cracker and makes a load report. The gas makes the tacket. Mr. Chadwick produced a list of 48 Fourth of July accidents last year, from the Emergency hospital, many of them from the accidental discharge of firecrackers, and a list of 65 from the Doston city hospital, 96 it then from cannon crackers, and these by far them of the control of the control of the control of cannon cracker factories from the common wealth if an attempt was made to stop this maining of human bodies.

drinkable, thus warding off for 15 or 20 years, perhaps 40, the time when she will need to take water from the source mentioned. The committee reported to-day, having prepared a statement of considerable length, which, of course, Mr. Langford had a hand in preparing. May or Hayes of Springfield came up yesterday and was so impressed by the reading of the statement of reasons, that he with the water commissioners begged the committee to suppress them and they would agree to the reference to pext year.

Mr. Langford was concealing his emotion all Tuesday. The reason was the action of the city government on Monday night in voting to ask a grade crossing commission. He had labored hard and long for a bill. When the committee some weeks since decided to report leave to withdraw, with but one dissenter, he, with Mr. Chadwick, had the matter held up and a reconsideration secured. The one dissenter was Senator Tolman of Berkshire county. When the latter heard that the city council had taken action he stouly refused even to dissent. This space, which was shut off on all sides from the street by high canvas wails, presented a brilliant scene. Long festoons of red and white incandescent lights centred about the top of a flag staff in the centre, which was entwined with bunting. Ranged about the inclosure were tete-a-tete tables, at which refreshments were served. The music was furnished by the Salem Cadet band, which was stationed on a raised platform. Dancing was enjoyed by hundreds of the young people.

Central Congregational Church at Newtonville.

Central Congregational Church at Newtonville.

To the Editor of the Graphne:—
It may be well to note the fact, that the new administration of the Newtonville Congregational church, is now having the largest congregations that have attended this fine editice for years, and that the new spirited and earnest pastor, Rev. Mr. Davis, is preaching a series of powerful, and eminently practical sermons, from actual daily life and business, which are attracting wide attention, and much thought, among all classes of church going people in this vicinity.

Another notable improvement, is in the music of said church. The new choir is supplying each service with a liberal amount of good and appropriate music, most of which is usually rendered with the "spirit and understanding," especially is this true of the vocal solos, many of which are sung with intelligence, artistic taste, and devotional expression. Something, however, that cannot always be said of church choir soloists, who are too apt to sing sacred hymns, as they would sing secular music; especially was this important feature noticeable, in the beautiful tenor solo yesterday. "Fear ye not, O Israel." Evidently Mr. Sykes had given marked attention to the meaning of the words and music as well.

ROLLING JUST FOR FUN.

"More than 20 years ago," said the senator in reminiscent mood, "I was doing clerical counts at Hamilton, Nev., on mountain walks pretty frequently, and one day I started out with my and on over a gap into the valley be yond. "I had a particular object in view.

In and a particular object in view, and with my dog I wandered along up the mountain, which was without vegetation except a fursy thicket in places, and the surface was covered with rocks of various sizes from a football to a haystack. After awhile, for some-thing better to do, I began to roll the stones down the mountain side, and it rapidly developed into a most exciting sport, for the mountain was steep and sport, for the mountain was steep and the rocks went down with a whoop and a hurrah that stirred the blood to watch them as they bounded along. I never thought of the road passing along about 1,000 feet down the hill, and, as nobody happened to be going by, my attention was not called to it in that way, and I kept on.

"Naturally enough, my success with the smaller stones made me ambitious, and I essayed something larger. It was a dandy, too, a great big, round bowlder that would have weighed a ton if it weighed a pound. It was a job to get it started, but by pulling the rocks from under it on the lower side and loosening it up all around I ton if it weighed a pound. It was a job to get it started, but by pulling the rocks from under it on the lower side and loosening it up all around I got it going at last and stood back to enjoy its progress down the mountain. It went slowly at first, as if in doubt, but it struck a steep place about 50 feet down the hill, and it leaped out like a restive horse from the post, and away it went, bounding a dozen feet into the air and jumping over gullies and rocks as if it were rubber. About 600 feet down, when it was going at tremendous speed, it leaped 50 feet into the air, and I was just going to let off a whoop when I saw a 12 mule team in the narrow road below and directly in the track of the monster.

"The team was drawing two wagons, as was the custom with the mountain freighters, and it was driven by old Jerry Simpson, one of the best known teamsters in the mountains. It simply paralyzed me, for I didn't see anything but destruction for everything in the way. There was no turning back or whipping up to get out of the way, for the load was heavy and the road was rough and narrow. I stood speechless, scared white, but the driver had seen the rock coming, and, dropping off the saddle mule, he broke back up the road as hard as he could run. I would have run, too, but my legs refused to act, and I stood fast and watched the great rock go tumbling down toward its victims. I hadn't long to wait, of course, and just as I gasped at the last bound of the bowlder it struck an obstruction of some kind and jumped clean over the team and the road and went crashing on its way down into the ravine below.

"Then I recovered my wits, and knowing that what I had been doing was entirely inexcusable, I skinned off up the mountain behind the rocks and disappeared, trusting to Providence that the old Jerry hadn't identified me. I slipped around another way to town and got in all right without having any questions asked where I had been, and that evening I went over to the post-greatly enjoyed by all.

The annual June festival of the Congregational society was held on Weduesday evening at the chapel, and there was a large attendance. At the various tables, in charge of a large committee of ladies, ice cream and cake, strawberries and cream, home made candy and lemonade were offered for sale, and were well patronized. An entertainment was also given by the Newtonians, Mandolin and Guitar Club, and readings by Miss Nora M. Burpee, of Jamaica Plain. The whole affair was very enjoyable, for which those present are much indebted to Mrs. Logan and her able corps of assistants, for their efforts to make the festival a success.

The pupils of Miss Mary L. Stone gave a musicale at the fine residence of Mr. E. W. Warren, Tuesday evening, May 29. Miss Stone's pupils invariably show careful and conscientions training in technique and phrasing, and in this respect the musicale was no exception to former exhibitions. The selections were especially pleasing and when all the numbers on the program were rendered, with such care and painstaking, it seems almost invidious to single out any work for special mention, though very noticeable was that of the very youngest ones of the class. Miss Adeline T. Joyce of Brookline added much enjoyment to the occasion by her original monologues. Miss Stone and her pupils are to be congratulated on the success of the recital.

BLAKE-HARWOOD.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Mary, daughter of Mrs. Geo. S. Harwood, to Mr. Harold Hamilton Blake, formerly of Newton but now of Concord, N. H., took place Thursday evening at the Immanuel Baptist church, the invited guests completely filling the church, and including prominent citizens from all parts of Newton, Boston, Cambridge and other cities. The decorations consisted of pink and white haw thorne blossoms, palms and ferns, which completely masked the pulpit platform and organ rathing, and the green masses were relieved by large bunches of white snow balls, placed here and there. Bunches of snowballs tied with white ribbons also decorated the pews. The bride entered the church, escorted by her eldest brother and preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Flora Luther of Boston, and the six ushers, Messrs, John H. and G. Fred Harwood, William L. Crosby of Boston, Inchert Lang of Cambridge, Raphael C. Thomas of Newton Centre and Thomas Weston, Jr., of Newton. The groom and his best man, Mr. Edmund C. Blake of Newton Highlands, met them at the chancel. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Frank B. Matthews, a modified form of the Episcopal marriage service being used. The bride was given away by her eldest brother, Mr. Sydney S. Harwood.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin, trimmed with point lace, and

The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin, trimmed with point lace, and her tuile veil was caught up with lillies of the valley. Her bouquet was of the same flowers. The maid of honor wore white point d'esprit over pink silk and carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas.

A reception followed at Sunnyhurst, the home of the bride, on Ivanhoe street, which was attended by the more intimate friends of the two families. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and palms, and colored lanterns were hung about the large piazzas. The guests were received by the bride and groom, assisted by Mrs. Geo. S. Harwood and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Blake, the parents of the groom. An orchestra furnished music during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Blake left late in the evening for a wedding tour, and on their return will make their home in Concord, N. H.

The wedding of Mr. George Anger Mason and Miss Georgie Dean Moore took place Monday evening at 7 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. II. E. Moore of Cambridge. The house was tastefully decorated with palms and potted plants. The bride was gowned in pearl lansdowne and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Jennie L. Mason. The best man was I. F. Moore. Rev. Dr. R. A. Beard, pastror of the Prospect street church, was the officiating clergyman. After a trip Mr. and Mrs. Mason will make their future home at 6 St. Paul street, Cambridge.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN AT THE GRADUATION EXERCISES

There were 16 to receive diplomas at the church of Newton Centre, Thursday morn-

In the church edifice was a large cather ing made up of friends of the serior class, and a large number of the alumni, including clergymen from the different parts of the country.

The faculty and members of the board of trustees occupied seats on the pulpit plat-form, which was handsomely decorated with flowers.

Rev. Dr. Hovey offered prayer in the beginning of the exercises, and there was singing of "All Hail the Power of Jesus" Name" by the congregation. There followed these addresses by members of the graduating class:

"A Graduation Outlook," George Fletcher Beecher.

"The Pastor and the Community," Maurice Ambrose Levy.

"Truths Which Need Emphasis Today," Benjamin Thompson Livingstone.

"Foregleams of the Incarnation," Charles Remington McNally.

"The Fatherhood of God," Newton Alexander Merritt, Jr.

"The Yalue of Nature Study to the Preacher," Eugene Sumner Philbrook.

"A Plea for Missionary Enthusiasm," Sumner Redway Vinton.

"The Christ for This Age," Nathan Robinson Wood.

"The Preacher and His Bible," Jonas Hamilton Woodsum, Jr.

Diplomas were presented by Rev. Dr. Nathan E. Wood, president of the institution, after which Pfof. Rush Rhees delivered an address. He said, in part:

"I have two words to say to you this morning, First, study to be simple in your thought and in your message. Men come to the services of a church weary with the strenuous cflorts which they have put forth in the business life of the week, They have a right to ask you to speak that all the strength of their attention may be given to what you say with the least tax by the way in which you say it. If this clearness of speech is to be yours you must study for simplicity of thought.

"My second word is, study to be modern, not primarily in familiarity with the latest hypothesis and most recent fad. Not in pride in our generation's greatness, in blut study to the greatness of the fathers, which they read, how they play, and what they admire. Study to be modern in sympathy with these things, even if you must challenge and seek to mend them.

"This modernness will not banish criticism of contemporary life. Our times of temptation, earthquake and fire greatly need to hear the still small voice, but if you would criticles you must challenge and seek to mend them.

MEETING OF CEMETERY CORPORATION.

NOON AND ELECT TRUSTERS—THE LATTER TAKE IMPORTANT ACTION— RESIGNATION OF MR. OTIS PETTEE AFTER 23 YEARS AS TREASURER—MR.

It was an interesting gathering that at-It was an interesting gainering that ac-tended the annual meeting of the Newton cemetery corporation in the Farlow me-morial chapel last Monday afternoon at 3. The grounds were never seen to more ad-vantage and there was much commenda-tion of the efficiency of Superintendent H. Wilson Ross, whose efforts to becautify the grounds have been unceasing and have ight the fullest measure of success

President of the corporation, Mr. Edward B. Haskell, presided and read the following report as representative of thetrustees:

any report as representative of the trustees;

April 1, 1859, there were 301 lors in the cemetery, which were purchased early in its bistory, and had never had the provision of perpetual care, without which no lot bas been sold for about twenty-live years. In May, 1899, a circular was sent to all such lot owners, containing an urgent appeal, for their own good as well as the good of the whole, to make this provision for their lots, especially in view of the fact that families separate, move away or die, leaving no representative to care for the lots where their members are interred. There were some responses to this circular. In December, 1899, the price of perpetual care on lots having been advanced lifty percent, another circular was issued offering lot owners of long standing the advantage of the old, lower rate if they would come in before June 1st of this year. The result of the two circulars has been that the perpetual care provision has been put on eighty-two old lots, and we have received since April '99, $12,510 nn that account, and the number of lots not having perpetual care has been reduced from 501 to 21s, Others have comein or taken steps to wards doing so since June 1st, and we recommend that the owners of lold lots have the same advantage extended to them during the current year on condition that they pay interest from that date.

current year on condition that they pay in-terest from that date.

Thirty-four lots were sold during the year for $10,003.50, a handsome increase over last year, and only a little less than 1897 and 1898.

year for $10,003.00, a nanosome increase over last year, and only a little less than 1807 and 1898. The amount of perpetual care money received during the year was $14,739.50, of which $3401.50 was on new lots, and $11,278 on old. We have about 500 lots graded and ready for sale.

We made a settlement covering all points of dispute with the city government early in the current year, receiving $4,000 for the damage done by tapping the underground supply of water for our ponds, and $500 for right of way for the city sewer across our grounds from Walnut to Beacon street. As soon as possible after that settlement we took the counsel of an engineer regarding a scheme to give us a water supply, both to keep the ponds full and to use on the grounds. A plan was presented in two parts as above indicated, the estimated cost of each being a little over $2.500. We decided to install as soon as practicable that part of the plant for the supply of the ponds, and we hope to have it in operation this summer. This plan includes pumping capacity sufficient for both purposes, and it will probably be considered feasible to provide an ample supply of water for use on the ground in the years to come. Such a supply will save us a large part of our present water tax.

Ours is not a corporation for making money, and the dirst can of the trustees

Carrying out the recommendation of the trustees it was voted to issue $40,000 worth of bonds to fund the floating debt.

These trustees were elected; Otis Pettee, W. P. Tyler, E. B. Haskell, E. M. Fowle, Francis Murdock, A. R. Mitchell, George Frost, Caleb F. Eddy and E. L. Pickard.

The trustees were very reluctant at accepting Mr. Otis Pettee's resignation as treasurer. For 23 years he rendered faithful service and the records of the corporation finances were kept in an excellent manner. Mr. H. Wilson Ross was chosen Mr. Pettee's successor. Mr. Haskell and chosen president; W. P. Tyler, vice-president; E. M. Fowle clerk and auditor, and H. Wilson Ross, superintendent and treasurer. DEATH OF JAMES T. ALLEN.

A NOTED EDUCATOR WHO HAS HELPED TO

Mr. James T. Allen died Saturday after-noon, after a long illness, and another is added to the many prominent citizens of Newton who have passed away within the ast decade. They were men who had ong been identified with Newton, and who long been identified with Newton, and who had all helped to make the city what it is today. Mr. Allen filled a large place in the educational history of Newton, from his connection with the famous Allen school, and still more from his force of character and his active interest in all public matters. The presence of the school and old traditions have made West Newton a centre of interest to educators, and many men and women who were prominent in this way have made their home there. New theories and methods were first adopt New theories and methods were first adopted there, and proving their excellence, have spread throughout the country. In all these matters the Messrs. Allen were prominent movers, and their names are known in educational circles throughout the country. The news of the death of Mr. James T. Allen will bring sincere regret to the many hundreds of former publis gret to the many hundreds of former pupils of the Allen school and also to a wide circle of friends throughout the country. Mr. Allen has been in failing health for several years, and last winter he spent in New York under the care of a skilful physician, but all that could be done proved of no permanent beneit. Since his return he has been confued to his home on Washington street, West Newton, and his death was not unexpected. He is a distinct loss to the city, and his family will have the sympathy of a wide circle of personal friends.

James Theodore Allen was born at Medield, August 20, 1831. His parents were Ellis and Lucy (Lane) Allen, His immigrant ancestor, James Allen, born in England, located in Dedham in 1637, and in 1649 made a settlement on the Charles river near Medield. He was the first of land in and about Medield. Eight generations of Allens have been born on the old place in Medield, which is still in the possession of the family. Phineas Allen, the grandfather of James T. Allen, was a revolutionary soldier. He ded in 1855. His son Ellis Allen, was born in Medield in 1792, and spent his life there as a well to do farmer. He had a family of elght children, of whom four sons and a daughter were living until recently. James T. Allen granduated from the State Normal School in Bridgewater in 1850, but he had they the work of the state of th

FUNERAL SERVICES.

A gathering that represented the educational force of New England, the citizens of Newton, and past and present students of the West Newton English and Classical school, attended the Inneral services held Tuesday afternoon in the West Newton Unitarian church.

The edifice was filled. Many came from distant parts of the country to pay their final tribute of love and respect to their former master. The village of West Newton was in gloom, for Mr. Allen was one of those who had helped to make its history and had served its best interests. Mayor Wilson was present.

The service was in charge of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the West Newton Unitarian church. He read the scriptures and offered prayer, which he followed with words of eulogy expressive of deepest sympathy.

There was singing by a quartet made up of Col. Isaac F. Kingsbury, City Clerk, Alfred M. Russell of the city health department, Miss Alice Morton, and Mrs. Chester A. Morton. They sang most effectively, "Still, Still With Thee," and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Led by the quartet, the assemblage sang "Abide With Me."

The ushers were George D. Davis, Edward C. Burrage, W. B. H. Dowse, Eugene Flay, Charles Hatfield and Theodore A. Fleu.

and novel design, and these, made up as a "Special," will follow the exciting race from start to finish. Every up-to-date modern appliance for safety will be used in the equipment of this new observation train, including Westinghouse air-brakes and air-whistle communicating with the engineer. In addition to the patent interlocking coupler, which holds the cars together in a vice like grip, safety chains are added between each car, and with platforms connecting the cars together, the train has the same solidity of m-tion as a wide vestibule train of parior or sleeping cars.

The entrance to the cars is through the centre up an aisle, to the right and left of which are four rows of seats. The seats are all high back with sufficient rise for occupants to obtain an unobstructed view of the race and permitting the ladies to wear their most charming summer bats. A heavy plank floor between each seat gives perfect rest, and a dashboard at the back and bottom will prevent injury to elothing. The arched roof of the cars, while protection is given against showers. The train is handsomely painted and will be decorated with the crimson and blue, so familiar and dear to the friends of each of the famous colleges. Tickets for this train are now on sale and in Boston,may be obtained of Mr. T. H. Hanley at the Central Vermont office, 366 Washington street.

NEWTON CLUB.

Fine weather, good music, hundreds of eaming lights and throngs of members nd guests were the features of the second June promenade concert of the Newton Club, which was held Wednesday evening. As on former similar occasions, the affair was held on the tennis courts and lawns in the rear of the clubhouse. From 7.30 o'clock until 11, these were thronged by the rear of the cubbouse. From 7.30 o'clock until 11, these were thronged by over 1200 persons, representing the society folk of the Newtons, Brookline, Boston and elsewhere. While the famed hospitality of the cub was taxed to its utmost, the concert was one of the most enjoyable ever given under its auspices. The grounds where the concert was held were shut off from the neighboring streets by high canvas walls, which on the inside were overning with hundreds of colored incanvas with hundreds and status with the contrespension of lights led out over the inclosure to a flaxpole in the centre, giving a most beautiful effect. Arranged at intervals about the sides were tables, at which refreshments were served. The concert began at 8 o'clock, the music being furnished by the 8th regiment band and orchestra, which were stationed on a platform at the rear. This also was filluminate. After the playing of the first two numbers on the program, the centre tenuis courts were cleared, and dancing was enjoyed by many of those present.

Hunnewell Club.

Hunnewell Club.

The promenade concert at the Hunnewell Club on Thesday evening was a brilliant success, the club hone and grounds being thronged throughout the evening. Over 500 people were present and an especially fine program of music was rendered by the Boston Caste band. The tennis grounds were enclosed by a high canvas screen, and heavy canvas was iaid for dancing, which was enloyed by the large number of young people present. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated by colored electric lights, with the cub monogram in red and white i one of the trees, and large stars in other trees. The plazzas were hung with Japanese lanterns, and the bandsome summer gowns of the ladies gave a festive appearance to the scene. Seats were placed about the grounds and on the broad biazzas, and the full moon gave additional charm to the evening. A large force of waiters were busy serving tee cream and cake to the guests, but owing to the coolness of the evening there was not such a demand for the frozen liquid as night have been the case had the weather been warner. During the evening a large company gathered outside to listen to the music.

A second promenade concert is to be given at the Hunnewell colon busy Toosche.

A second promenade concert is to be given at the Hunnewell club next Tuesday evening, June 19th, with music by Carter's military band,

The extra electric light plant installed at the Hunneweil club for their promenade concert caused a good deal of trouble as the lights at Grace church and other places kept going out, as well as those at the club, for the first half hour or so. A prominent citizen said it reminded him of the Mississippi steam boat which had just power enough to move her along, and when it was necessary to whistle the boat had to stop. However, the trouble with the lights was finally remedied and the lights came up for right for the rest of the evening.

For a living. He has to. He must "make hay while the sun shines," no matter how he feeis. The result is overwork. The stomach usually gives the first sign of strain. The organs of digestion and nutrition are deranged. Food does not nourish. Indigestion appears. In such a case Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery re-establishes the health by a complete cure of the diseased organs of digestion and nutrition. It cleanses the stomach, purifies the blood and removes the causes of disease. It is a temperance medicine, and contains no whisky nor alcohol.

"I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliactic Latah Co. Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until Jr. I suffered thought it would kill me. I am glad to write and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Vieles of his 'Piessant Peliets' cured mi."

BOSTON GAS TANGLE.

THE Boston gas business is proving too THE BOSION gas business is proving too much for the legislature and the committee on manufactures is all mixed up. Seven members favor an act prohibiting any company from supplying gas to or in Boston which does not comply with the laws of Massachusetts. This is aimed at the New England gas and each company which was England gas and coke company, which was

It was a very shrewd scheme, very nicely It was a very shrewd scheme, very nicely plannel to levy tribute on the gas consumers of Boston, and the ring are all-powerful in Boston and appear to control nearly all of the daily papers to which they are very generous contributors. The only way they can be reached is through the legislature, and the scandal that attended the passway of the ping line bill will be reregistative, and the scandar that attended the passage of the pipe line bill will be recalled as one of the most serious in which our legislature has been involved.

The proper way to reach this ring, and which is recommended by the seven members of the committee who made the first report, is to force the coke company to incorporate on a capitalization that reprecorporate on a capitalization that represents the actual investment, and bring it under the regulative power of the state. The Whitney ring should be given fair treatment and only what is just, and their power for plunder should be abridged. The most effective way would be of course to put an end to all, this gas expensiving and m steffective way would be of course to put an end to all this gas speculation and robbery that has disgraced Boston for so many years, and to pass a law empowering Boston to buy the existing plants at what it would cost to replace them and have a municipal plant. The Addieks crowd, the Standard Oil crowd and the Whitney crowd have plandered the city sufficiently long, and have lost all right to be considered. There might be small stealings under a municipal plant and a good deal of partisan! have plundered the city sufficiently long, and have lost all right to be considered. There might be small stealings under a municipal plant and a good deal of partisan plundering, but these could never amount to the immense sums which the gas rings have taken out and, rother the proposed in the control of the storie cars from Waltham plundering, but these could never amount to the immense sums which the gas rings would be controlled in the have taken out and robbed the people of nave taken out and fobbed the people of. Such an act ought also to appeal to the Boston politicians of both parties as it would give them so many more places to dispose of. One thing is certain, which is that an honest management of the gas that an honest management of the gas busines in Boston by private citizens is impossible. The price of gas in that city should not be over 75 cents, and under the most loosely conducted municipal plant it would not exceed that sum and would probably fall a good deal short of it. But the chance of any action in opposition to the wishes of the gas manipulators by this legislature is not very roomising.

MAYOR HART seems to have a good deal Boston tax bill, and so Mayor Hart may succeed in this efforts to raise the tax rate. The present administration of Boston affairs is not one to which citizens can be done at the Plant Line office 209 Washington Street, or 20 Atlantic Avenue, Boston. The present administration of Boston affairs is not one to which citizens can exactly point with pride, as it is too much devoted to the spoils system, and like another great official, Mayor Hart has too many wicked partners. The Mayor, himself, is probably a well disposed man, and if left to almost if would follow reform principles, but there are so many needy workers who want to be paid for their services in his behalf and want to build up the party by dividing up the offices, that spoils seem to be the chief object of the Mayor and his friends. Newton can look at Boston as an example to be shunned, as so far we have been able to keep partisan politics out of city affairs in spite of some strenuous for its honesty and business like attitude. The aldermen and the mayor do not have to expend their greatest efforts in dividing up the spoils among their followers, while more important matters are neglected.

Col. Alexander H. Bacon of the New York militia is apparently as fond of the "Strenuous" life as is Gov. Rosevett When the governor approved the investigation of the 71st New York regiment, Col.

Bacon was all stirred up, and he declared that Roosevelt and his Rough Riders had nothing whatever to do with the taking of San Juan hill, that Roosevelt's description of the trenches filled with dead and dying Spaniards was all fiction, and that there were neither trenches nor Spaniards on the scene of Rooseveit's alleged achievements. Col. Bacon has now sent in his peremptory resignation, and, on being asked by a representative of the New York Herald with regard to it, he said: "Resign! Of course I have resigned, I could not with any self-respect serve under a commander-in-chief who was a quitter and a Peacock in Cuba, and a coward and moral assassin at home. What I say, I say advisedly, and I serve notice on the Governor that I am ready at any time to prove the truth of my assertions." Gov. Roosevelt errother serve notice on the Governor that I am ready at any time to prove the truth of my assertions." Gov. Roosevelt Spaniards was all fiction, and that there truth of my assertions." Gov. Roosevelt is fond of talking to school boys about the manliness of fighting, and so on, and it would seem as if he now had a chance to put his theory into practice.

MAYOR WILSON is still looking after Mayor Wilson is still looking after expenditures, and it is said has prepared a veto of the order appropriating $6500 for the furnishing of the new Bigelow school. The amount he is convinced is excessive, and gives occasion for extravagant expenand gives occasion for extravagant expen-ditures. It is said that one thing that led to the veto was the fact that the commit, tee of the school board has set aside $500 for the purchase of a piano for the school hall. This amount the Mayor regarded as excessive as pianos of excellent make can excessive as planos of excelent make can be bought for a much smaller sum, and other appropriations for furnishings were on the same generous scale. As two of the rooms are not to be used for the present the Mayor decided that they did not require furnishing, and he also pruned down other items. His action may not be popular as economy is only appular into hefore other items. Its action may not be popular as economy is only popular just before election, and after it is over every committee and department is in favor of generous expenditures for their special needs. Still a close watching of the city's expenditures in the content of the city's expenditures. is the only way to keep down the tax rate, and every one is in favor of that.

SENATOR HANNA is reported to have found a new way to assess postmasters. The scheme is to invite them through the National Commercial and Industrial League, to send $5 to the office of that or ganization, as payment for 10 tickets of membership at 50 cents each. The secretary of the league claims that it is not an assessment, as all the postmaster has to do it to the commercial control of the commercial control of the commercial control of the commercial control of the contro England gas and coke company, which was formed to evade the law and state regulation, and has a capital of which only one-fourth represents anything but water. On this inflated capital the company hopes to pay something like ten per cent. dividends, according to Mr. Whitney's own testimony, and hence it was made an association and not a corporation. But there is the Massachusetts Pipe Line company, which is a corporation owned by the same men as the Coke company, and the same men as the Coke company, and the same men own also a controlling interest in the Boston gas a controlling interest in the Boston gas stacle to Senator Hanna, when he wants to > COL. CLARKE of the Home Market Club and Wellesley and Hon. B. B. Johnson of Waltham are rival candidates for Congress Waltham are rival candidates for Congress from that district, and things are becoming rather lively, we judge, from the fact that the Waltham Free Press devotes nearly a column to defending Col. Clarke against certain charges Mr. Johnson has made against the Home Market Club man. But why does not the Waltham paper support lits own fellow citizen in this contest, instead of following after an outsider? stead of following after an outsider?

> Some of the Philadelphia papers have the news that Secretary Long has stood the covert attacks of Senator Lodge as long as he can, and he is now at work to defeat Lodge's ambition to be permanent chair-man of the convention. This is certainly astonishing, for Senator Lodge has been

Engage your Stateroom Early.

A number of engagements have already been made for the fourteen hundred mile been made for the fourteen hundred mile cruise on La Grande Duchesse of the Plant Line, by tourists who took this sail last summer. This is pretty good evidence that it is a taking trip and it is not to be wondered at when the size and character of this magnificent ship is considered. She is so large and powerful that the ordinary summer seas have very little effect on her, and her staterooms are so roomy and comfortable that the best people are fast finding it to be a trip suited to their tastes. Her schedule for the coming summer has been arranged so she will pass through the beautiful scenery of the Straits of Canso by daylight, as well as make good connections with the Bras D'Or Lake steamers at seasonable hours. To avoid disappointment, engagements should be made early. This

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Denison Slade. She was gowned in white creps de chine, lace yoke and sleeves, with trimmings of insertion lace, She wore the customary tulle veil which was caught up with a sprig of orange blossoms, and fastened by a diamond and pearl brooch, the latter the gift of the groom. Her attendants were Miss Fredericka Slade of Chestnut Hill and Miss Susie Howe of Longwood. The best man was Mr. Roger Warner, a nephew of the groom. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served the guests in a tent on the lawn. After an extended driving tour, Mr. and Mrs. Warner will reside in Lincoln, Mass.

that in the arrest of a colored man giving the name of Edward D. Church, at Providence, R. I., last evening and in behalf of the Worcester, Mass, police, the alleged swindler of dentists in Newton has at last fallen into the clutches of the law.

A colored man, bearing letters purported to have been written by prominent Newton women, called at the office of a number of Newton dentists and made appointments in the interest of his mythical employer. It is said the colored man made calls on the dentist in the hope of finding that gentleman so occupied that he would not notice the disappearance of any little article like a pocketbook that might be lying around. In one office of this city, it is said, a colored man made off with a pocketbook containing 75 cents. It is also hinted that there

Lascil Notes.

With the banquet given the senior class by the Lasellia cub and the S, D. society, on the evening of June 8, commencement festivities at Lasell may be said to have fairly begun. This, noticed in another column, was followed on Sunday, June 10, by the baccalaurente sermon, given by the Rev. Everett D. Burr, of Newton Centre, and also reported elsewhere in this issue. On Monday evening a very entertaming and successful concert practically closed the musical year at Lasell. This was the the pupils' concert, and except that the choir class was assisted by ladies from the choir class was assisted by ladies from the choir of Shawmat church, Boston, was wholly the work of students, and very creditable indeed to their careful training. The program included compositions for the voice, organ, plano and violin, departments under the management of Miss Priscilla White, vocal, Mr. Dunham, organ and chorus, Prof. Jos. A. Hills, plano, and Mr. Mr. Goldstein, violin, and was received with enthusiasm by the audience.

Tuesday evening was given up to the pleasures of Class Day, the seniors pleasantly entertait ing their teachers, friends and schoolmates with a well-gotten np program of exercises, both indoor and outdoor. The usual address of welcome by the president, the humorous roll-call, the prophecy, last will and testament and other similar papers kept the audience in laughter most of the time. Outdoors the exercises were spectacular and pretty, and closed with a delightful hour of social pleasure. Wednesday was Commencement Day. In the morning, occurred at the Congregational church, the usual ceremonies of graduation. Rev. Dr. Wm. V. Kelley, editor of the Methodist Review, delivered a pungent address upon the nature and power of personality, the obligations it imposes and the inestimable benefits it confers. Principal Bragdon then after a few preliminary remarks, presented the diplomas to the fifteen members of the class of 1900. Following this came the invitation to the entire company to lunch with the school upon the seminary lawn, and here, seated comfortably at long tables, under a wide spread tent, and served by the deft hands of the seminary students, between three and four hundred people enjoyed a bountiful and delicious luncheon. This over, there came next, and finally, the meeting in the chapel of the alunnae of the school, a business meeting chiefly, in which officers for the ensuing year were elected, certain other business matters attended to, and the newly graduated class welcomed to membership in the society. The meeting was then adjourned, and the formal part of a Lasell commencement was over; but for hours afterwards the halls and grounds were throughed by the numerous guests of the day, friends and relatives of the skidents, former pupils, and friends of the school in general.

Among the guests of the day was the Rev. John Butler of Mexico City, whose daughter has been at Lasell this year. Mr. Butler presented the school with a hand-some Mexican flag, a welcome addition to the Lasell collection of national flags, dis-played on the walls of the gymnasium.

Far down the lane
A window pane
mid the trees through night and rain;
The weeds are drive
I through which a fonce is out, one sees not where nor whence,
where the springhouse, indistinct of line,
porfed and tangled with a trumpet vine.

No thing is heard,
No beast or bird,
y he rain by which are stirred
The draining leaves
And rickling eaves
crib and barn one scarce perceives, gardens where old fashioned flow'rs hang The phlox, the candytuft and mignonette.

Why should I wait?
The hour is late;
s not heard me at the gate.
Upon the roof
The rain was proof
t my horse's hurrying hoof, shen the old gate with its weight and shain Creeks she will think it but the wind and rain.

Along I steal
With cautious heel
the lamp lit window kneel,
And there she sits
And rocks and knits
the shadowy light that flits
e and hair, so sweetly sad and gray, ing of him she thinks is far away.

Upon my checks
Is it the streaks
lin, as now the old porch creaks
Beneath my stride?
And open wide
door flings, and she's at my side, mother! And, back from the war, her boy
se her face all streaming wet with joy,

A QUESTION OF METHOD

Young Bowen's Contempt For Army Red Tape.

Young Clancy Bowen brought to New York from his western home a life equipment of so much energy, com bined with the unshakable belief that bined with twe unshakable belief that it was easy enough to "do things" if you only "got down on your four legs and exercised," that his friends, both new and old, expect a great deal of him. But they are yet awhile no nearer dropping the objectionable introduction to his name than they were three years ago, when Bowen had no better sense than to spend a week of his praces. sease than to spend a week of his pre-cious time in the attempt, according to a promise, to collect an old and out-lawed debt from a vanishing person in the east for the benefit of some one "at home." Then and always they called him "young." Only this winter he had an experience which should have been formative. It stunned him, perhaps, but he awoke unchanged.

Bowen's brother, a soldier in the regular army, went to the front in 1808.

Bowen's brother, a soldier in the regular army, went to the front in 1898. The stay at home, however, bore a heavier burden of the distresses of the campaign in Cuba than the one who saw the battles. When he read in the newspapers that the army was keenly suffering for food while whole shipfuls of stores remained untapped at anchor a few miles off the beach, the young man seethed with pent up irritation—pent up until he had finished a scrap of breakfast at his boarding house, where man seethed with pent up irritation—pent up until he had finished a scrap of breakfast at his boarding house, where there was no one but the landlady, and she deaf, and found the ear of an acquaintance down town.

"Say, what good are those generals? They ain't fit to be pitching hay! Say, I'd get a rope on to every one of those ships, one by one, and haul 'em up on shore, and I'd dump'em out and fill up the brave fellows fighting for their country till they was gorged!"

"You couldn't do that, or anything, not if you was a general," said the other. "Red tape." He repeated the last words decisively. "Red tape!"

"I'd ravel it all out!" cried Clancy and hurrled off. That was the man; this is the simple experience:

The brother came back from the war not a bit the worse either for the fasting or the fighting, but the chance of army life did not bring him within reach of Clancy's arms for more than a year. Then, after everything else had been said, the soldier let fall the information that he had been obliged to leave his extra clothing, together with most of his worldly goods, at the barracks in California when he was ordered to the front and regretfully wished he had them now. ed to the front and regretfully wish

"Where did you put the things?"
asked Clancy, alive at once, ready to take charge of the matter of getting them back.

"Captain told me to pack my stuff in my company locker, and I did—No. 65, Benleia barracks, Second infantry storehouse," rattled off the soldier.
"Well, all we have to do is to write out to the man, the janitor, or what you call, 'em, who keeps care of the Then it'll all be reglar,"

"Oh, well," Clancy sniffed; "that will

If not, you'd better let me".—
But the other interrupted decidedly.

Several months passed. Nothing was heard from Benleia barracks. Clancy tried to make his brother "punch up" the captain. He even wrote a fevered appeal himself to the man who, he reckoned, must have taken away those things and sold them, but the soldier would not let the letter be mailed. The brothers nearly split up over this question, for Clancy said he was ashamed that one of his family should have so little "lustle" in him.

"I tell you it's no use to do anything but wait," said the brother in his stupid, firm way. And last week he was proved right. A red inked, blue inked, green inked bundle of paper, all pasted green inked bundle of paper, all pasted together and strung out with a pinned copy of his letter to his captain, came to the soldier. He brought the thing to Clancy at the first opportunity.

"Snakes!" st. the young man. "Is that quite all? Conversational, ain't it? Well, let's see. 'Respectfully forwarded to the adjutant, Benicia barracks, with request that a search be instituted for the purpose of finding the clothing said to have been packed away'— That's from your captain, and they call it the first 'indorsement." Clancy turned and twisted the wad of papers about until he found what he was looking for, then read:
"Second indorsement. The box locker referred to was shipped, with all its.

Well, he just very respectfully returns to the quartermas-ter up there, who returns back to him, and then he returns it to somebody else, who tells 'the commanding officer' at Leavenworth that he can send you your old pants if he wants to, William, but he must be sure and send the papers back." Clancy sighed seriously.

"Tenth indorsement. Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Respectfully referred."

Oh, respectfully referred, to the quar-termaster for his information and termaster for his information and guidance. Want to save the wear and tear on the quartermaster's brains. Be cheaper to buy you new duds, I should say. Here's a few more. 'Eleventh indorsement.'" Clancy paused, his brows knitting. "Oh, this is good stuff," he cried out. "It tells the story, all

"No." said William. "I been reading this."
"And then the adjutant returns respectfully to you, but you don't get it, and then the captain returns respectfully to you, and you do get it, thirteenth and fourteenth indorsements, good, and the box is on the way." Clancy, though abashed, became sarcastic:

"Do you circulate a round robin be-fore they'll let you put on them pants?" he asked.

Fires In Natal.

In Natal fire still continues to be one of winter's perils. After months of drought plantations become so much tinder, and should by chance any field take fire and a "hot wind" be blowing the devastation wrought is widespread if not ruinous.

if not ruinous.

One "Black Monday" nearly 30 years ago will long be memorable for the de-struction wreaked through two coun-ties by the ruthless fire fiend. "Fire breaks" of trees or bare spaces combin-ed with vigilance in suppression have greatly lessened the risks of confagration, but the dangers of grass fires will tion, but the dangers of grass ares will long be a menace to the tree planter and pastoralist in the upper districts.

Natal has been described as a "vast meadow." Its hills are clothed from foot to brow with crisp and waving grass. The latter often overtops a man's head. From the earliest record ed times it has been the fashion, and a wasteful, barbarous fast on it seems, to burn these luxuriant pastures.— Cornhill.

[Special Legislative Correspondence.]

Boston, June 13. The Legislature is one week nearer pro The Legislature is one week nearer pro-rogation than it was one week ago. This is an astronomical fact, but there is nothing to indicate it to be true outside of the chronological argument addressed to one's reasoning faculties. For it was a fact a week ago Monday that the "orders of the week ago anomay that the 'orders of the day" of the House was only two pages long with 40 numbers on the table, while on Monday of this week the orders of the day were eight pages long, with 33 matters still lying on the table. Of course a number of committees must have reported durish the next week to be a page of the sadars.

ber of committees must have reported during the past week to pad out the orders of the day in this fashion, and every committee report that is acted upon lessens the business yet to be done, but the situation is rather discouraging for the parliamentarians, notwithstanding.

One or two steps which mark progress are the receipt of the railroad lease bills from the committee on railroads and the bills which have been reported from the committee on manufactures. The Albany lease bill is in the Senate calendar, and the bill to provide for the lease of the Fitchburg has gone to the committee on ways burg has gone to the committee on ways and means of the House. The indications burg has gone to the committee on ways and means of the House. The indications still are that the hardest sledding is to be experienced by the Albany bill, for in some sense it is felt that the Flichburg is the ward of the State which is being transferred as a matter of pure business policy to the strong arms of the Boston & Maine; white the Albany road seems to be in the condition it was a decade ago, when it desired a large increase of capital. The opponents of the bill at that time looked upon it as a bloated monopoly, and they still seem to assume the same attitude toward it. Then, again, the Democratic party in its last piatform declared against the lease of the Albany, and Secretary MenNary of that organization seems determined to fight against it to the last dich as a party matter, and McNary comes pretty near being the leader of the House and the opposition of a mild amendment or two offered to the Fitchburg lease, there did not seem to be any real opposition to it on the part of the remainded to the defeat of the Albany and the opposition in the House and the senate there did not seem to be any real opposition to it on the part of the remainded to the defeat of the Fitchburg lease there did not seem to be any real opposition seems to be to fight out the Albany lead to the defeat of the Fitchburg lease shis point it seem by all sides, the and as this point it seem by all sides, the and as this point it seem by all sides, the quality lead to the defeat of the Fitchburg lead to the first, but where one bill is in more house and the second in the other branch it is plainly to be seen that they are liable to get mixed up. The safest prophecy therefore is that either both bills will be anacted, or that neither bill will be, and the indications are, of course, that both will become laws. Counsel Coolidge of the Boston & Maine is determined the Fitchburg bill shall not be side-tracked anyway.

will become laws. Counsel Coolidge of the Boston & Maine is determined the Fitch burg bill shall not be side-tracked anyway.

After quite a discussion in the House, it has ordered to a third reading the Senate bill to authorize the metropolitan park commissioners to grant locations to street railway companies. The House amended the bill slightly by giving a majority of the park commissioners of the cities and towns in the district concurrent jurisdiction with the metropolitan park board. The indications are that the bill will will finally be signed by the Governor in this form.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the committee on public charitable institutions on Monday of this week, when the bill offered by Senator Kenefick of Palmer to provide that the receipts and expenditures of the insane asylums of the Commonwealth should go through the office of the Treasurer of the Commonwealth should go through the commonwealth was heard. Hon. Alden Speare of the Westboro Hospital trustees and Hon. Albert S. Harwoo d were among those present. Commissioner Harwood was somewhat in doubt as to what attitude the State Board or Insanity would take on this matter, as it is evident that in certain ways the birl is a meritorious one, although it does seen to interfere with the acts of boards of trustees of the Worcester Insane Hospital, who, with a supposedly sufficient, and twice as much money as the Legislature had the provided that the Treasurer of the Commonwealth was thought the best way to get at the matter was to provide that the Treasurer of the Commonwealth was thought the best way to get at the matter was to provide that the Treasurer of the Commonwealth should handle the funds.

As the writer intimated would be the case, a few weeks sline, the ways and of the Commonwealth should handle the funds.

As the writer intimated would be the case, a few weeks since, the ways and means committee of the House reported a bill to establish the salary of the chairman of the board of railroad commissioners in place of another bill for an increase of $1000 in the saiaries of Commissioners Goodwin and Bishop, and $5000 in that of the chairman. There was a time when the members of the board received larger salaries, and then in a year of commy they were all cut down to a lower sum. Then it was decided that the chairman deserved more saiary, and he was given $4500 each. Representative Reed of Taunton, who is on the ways and means committee dissents from the report, not only on the ground that the other commissioners wholf seems and that the other commissioners will receive an increase, but on the ground been a tew man Jackson board does not deserve greater remuneration than was paid Hon. George G. Crooker and Hon. John E. San Jord in the same position. Many of Commissioner Bishop's triends feel that he deserves to receive compensation nearer that of the chairman; that it is not fair to him and Commissioner Goodwin to pay them $1500 less than the head of the board, considering the fact that on a great many of the matters that come up their judgment is as important and their dissent would carry as much weight as his. Yesterday, on Mr. Reed's motion, the House amended the bill by making the salary of the two commis-

Whitewash.

A good whitewash is made by putting a piece of lime weighing about five pounds in a granite pan or bucket. Pour on it a gallon of water, allow it to boil and slack until the steaming is over; then take from this two quarts of the liquid lime, put it to a wooden or granite bucket and add sufficient water to make it rather thin. Add a small amount of pure indigo sufficient to give it the proper color; add a teat spoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of lime, put it is to be used with lime.

Spoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of fampblack; stir well. If you wish it colored, add one of the colorings which can be purchased at any druggists, stating that it is to be used with lime.

Curiosities of the Alphabet.
To those who have never considered the subject it might appear that each letter is of equal importance in the formation of words, but the relative proportions required in the English language are these: a, 85; b, 16; c, 30; d, 44; e, 120; f, 25; g, 17; h, 64; i, 80; f, 45; c, 20; z, 2.

It is this knowledge of how frequenting one interest that come up their judgment is as important and their dissent would carry as much weight as his. Yesterday, on Mr. Richams the life deet's motion, the House amended the bill by making the salary of the two commits. Ar. Chadwick has had the famous inquest bill from Newton put in the calendar of the House, and succeeded in having it witnesses may be summoned to attend and testify and to produce books and papers before the mayor or chief of police of the anily of Newton, at any investigation or hearing before the mayor or chief of police on hearing before the mayor or chief of police on the same manner and paid the same faces as witnesses shefore police courts. Rev. Dr. Burt took for his subject "The Divine Law of Life." He said in part:
"The new education acknowledges this law of mental life, that true knowledge comes by experience and activity. The old education was that of the library; the new education is of the laboratory. You really know only what you have learned by doing. The cramming of the memory with faces is not the culture of the soul in truth. That knowledge of the truth which comes from experience becomes a part of the very soul. "If any man will do the will of God he shall know the doctirne. What is true of alk how we have the control of the higher knowledge of God is true of alk knowledge. We do not know God by the intellectual study of scriptures. The Bible is not religion; it is a description of religion. It does not contain religion any more than a book of tastics contains knowledge of warfare, or a chart the knowledge of onavigation. The true knowledge of God comes in the way of obedience to his will, just as a knowledge of acriculture is found in the toil of the fields, not in the study of a treatise on the rotation of crops. "It is fullet to engage in agonizing prayer, the singing of pathetic hymns, and the reading of religions poetry to induce religions emotion. The sensitive nerve may be galvantized by such stimuli, but the abiding condition of peace and joy comes through righteousness."

Surrounding the lawn at the front and sides of the seminary buildings there were strung chains of Chinese lanterns together with ropes of vari-colored incandescent lights.

Long before the hour of commencing the gymnasium was filled and there were many unable to obtain seats. It was precisely 8 when the class of fifteen graduates marched from the main building through the long corridor and down the main aisle of the gymnasium hall to the stage. Here they occupied seats throughout the evening.

sented a cast. The subject was, "Luca Deila Robbia" or "The Singing Boys."

"The Farewell" was most affecting as delivered by Miss Eva Baymond. The out-door exercises followed this and the large assemblage of speciators hurried to the front lawn to secure the best points of vantage.

Marching to the music of an orchestra stationed on the veranda the seniors, escorted by the juniors, proceeded to the lawn and forming a circle were all attention, while Miss Mary Houghton derivered an address entitled. "The Naughty Ones." "Smoky Mokes" came next which included the burning of sooks and mementoes of the past four years.

The class of 1900 included Alice Maude Ashley, Edith Lauret Bailey, Annia Bess Campuell, Ella Brooks Cotton, Agnes Elvira Flaherty, Blanche Elizabeth Gardner, Mary Houghton, Annie Erma Iyes, Emille Kothe, Jessie Seymour McCarthy, Rhoda Elsie Porter, Helen Marian Rausdell, Eva Sherman Raymond, Elsie Boardman Reynolds and Katherine Vaughan White.

-Very extensive preparations are being made for the lawn party to be given by the Wade school on the Ir lawn. Saturday, June 16. In connection with the party there will be a fine entertainment in the school hall to be given by the Lilliputian Sisters. As the proceeds are to go toward the picture fund for the primary grades it is hoped that the day will be pleasant and that there will be a large attendance.

will be a large attendance.

—"An Evening with David Harum" which was to have been June 14, will be given Thursday evening, June 21, at Wade hall. The entertainment is to be given under the auspices of the Reading Room Association The choirs of the three churches of the village are to render music during the evening. Mr. Augustus F. Howell, the reader of the evening, is considered very fine in his impersonation of David Harum, and all who have ever heard him praise him very highly.

Drawing Results at High School.

The results and accomplishments of the year's work by the pupils of the drawing department of the High school were displayed to admiring relatives and friends from 3 to 5, Tuesday and Wednesday after-

Arranged in an attractive manner the

Arranged in an attractive manner the specimens were offered for inspection in rooms 25 and 26 on the third floor. No doubt the display was a revelation to a majority of the visitors.

Both Mr. Nathaniel L. Berry, supervisor of drawing in the Newton public schools, and Miss Elma M. Smith, drawing teacher at the High school, were the recipients of hearty congratulations on the successful work, the pupils themselves sharing the praise.

Mr. Berry and Miss Smith were on hand both afternoons and explained the entire courses as shown by the exhibit. A most interesting and pleasing study, the exhibition was referred to only in the highest complimentary terms by the scores who were permitted to enjoy it.

A good deal of unfavorable comment has been caused by the action of Policeman Goode in arresting Mrs Bessie Hartop, for distributing handbills without a permit. The bills were descriptive of Rev.
Justin Fulton's meetings at Y. M. C. A.
Hail, and the officer claimed that he warned her three times before the arrest.
Mrs. Hartop claimed that she only passed out one handbill and that was before the officer spoke to her. In court she was represented by Attorney J. C. Ivy, but Judge Kennedy found that a city ordinance had been violated and fined her Sl. She appealed from the sentence.

Flag-day was observed by the Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., by an excursion to So. Duxbury, and a visit to its many points of interest. The ride from Boston so. Duxbury, and a visit to its many points of interest. The ride from Boston to Duxbury by train occupied about an hour and a half, and the changing views of the country radiant with the beauty of early summer, gave special delight. Among the places visited which were associated with Myles Standish were his grave, his son's house, where he spent his remaining days after his own home was burned, and the Myles Standish Monument which wowns the emitence known as Captain's Hill. This monument, begun twenty-seven years ago, was not completed until last year. It is surmounted by a statue of Standish. The site of Myles Standish's former home, and that of Elder Brewster, also were visited. The great-st interest perhaps was felt in the John Alden house which remains intact, and which has sheltered eight generations of Aldens, each generation possessing a John Alden.

A drive was taken through the quaint and beautiful village of Duxbury as far as Powder Point. Mrs Lyman Drew most generously and hospitably opened her house for the entertainment of the party, and there a box luncheon was enjoyed and a pleasant social hour passed. Several of the party remained over night to enjoy the quiet and beauty of the place, and to indulge in further walks and drives on the following day.

The two racing locomobiles were geared so that two revolutions of the engine corresponded with a single revolution of the driving axle, and each had been specially fitted for the race by its owner. Dashboards had been removed in order to decrease atmospheric resistance, and each had auxiliary tanks of air and gasolene, to give greater pressure during the run.

It had been decided that each contestant should have a minute's leeway before another should start behind him. Lots were drawn for positions and Dr. G. B. Henshaw of Cambridge stood ready to act as timekeeper and starter, with F. E. Stanley of Newton as assistant. Just before the first man was called, Mr. Greene, who had drawn fourth position and had been up the road to warm up his machine, came down the stretch at a gait which made his carriage look like a mere strip of color along the macadam, and broke his watergauge; but the decided to start nevertheless, and at 5.29 o'clock, C. #### An Appeal to the Citizens of Newton.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC: To the Entor or the GRAPHIC:—
Probably every parent in Newton wants his child to be well educated by good instructors. It appears that the parents in Brooklyn, New York, feel the same way. The difference between the two, however, is that those in ground by a willing to is that those in prooklyn are willing to pay for the best teachers, while those in Newton, instead of increasing salaries to keep the good teachers they now e let them go, and put up with secon instructors. Then they wonder wh tures of the club constitution are experimental and it has seemed the wise thing to proceed tentatively with its development, and to establish its policy with the help of the few neople actual y known by the founder to be in full sympathy with the purpose in view. It seems quite clear now that the experimental stage is over and that the music club has found a niche to fill. The enthusiasm with which the project has been taken up seems to show this and to promise a long and active career.

Now, therefore, that a fairly complete organization has been effected, a cordai in vitation is extended, and will be again with the fall announcement, to all that are interested to promote the aim of the club, to become members of it.

The aim is good music and the intelligent appreciation of it, and the objective is both the club and the public at large, for one of the designs is to organize first-class to concerts to be offered the public at cost.

Norumbega Fark.

This week opened with a holiday at Norumbega Fark and is to close with Royal Arcanum Day on Saturday. This does not mean that those who are not Arcanumites will not be allowed to enter, for there is plenty of room for all in the big Park. But it does mean that over 1,000 prophers of the scale will be seen that over 1,000 prophers of the scale will be seen that over 1,000 prophers of the scale will be seen that over 1,000 prophers of the scale will be seen that over 1,000 prophers of the scale will be seen that over 1,000 prophers of the scale will be seen to see the day of the scale will be seen that over 1,000 prophers of the scale will be seen to see the day of the scale will be seen to see the scale will be seen to see the scale will be seen to big Park. But it does mean that over 1,000 members of the society will pass the day in the grounds, which is synonymous with saying that there will be lots of joillifeation. It must be considered a feather in the cap of the management that this society decided to hold its annual outing at Norumbega, for the committee in charge of the holiday was in receipt of some very tentifing inducements to spend the day elsewhere. But the multitude of attractions and the popular prices at Norumbega 'put the hooks' into the other resorts, so Auburndale will harber the society.

Nearly 20,000 people went to the Park on Monday, in spite of the many other places that afforded amusement that day. The evening was rather chilly, but, notwithstanding a great many lingered to see the Imperials in vaudeville, and they were well repaid. The distribution of roses to ladies who went to the Chalet was very favorably commented on, especially as the flowers were grown on the stage, before the eyes of the recipions.

The four different species of bears had all been moved her the big den on Friday and by Monday had signed a nocotol previous to entering into p-actiful relations, they are quite anication on Next week Gorman's Olympia of vaudeville will be seen at the flost of fleature. If you go with your hopes high, you will not be disappointed.

NEWTON CENTRE.

The 3rd competition for the June cups at Newton Centre was played Saturdax, with 4 contestants in class A and 4 in class B. On Monday a large crowd of players were out, and there were a number of driving and putting contests. E. M. Noyes cap tured first place in driving with W. M. Nobie 2nd. J. A. Daniels won this contest with 12 strokes. The qualifying round for the spring cup was played in the afternoon with 17 contestants.

Marstall Stimson won the 18-hole handl-cap at the Newton Club on Monday. There was also golf ball sweepstakes, in which Mr. Stimson led.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

The movement in behalf of a public bathhouse on the Charles at this place is meeting with very general approbation. The committee reports generous subscriptions on the part of the villagers, and it is hoped to interest the city offloials and the street railway companies in the project. The location of the new bathhouse has not yet been decided upon, but it is believed that the metropolian park commission will grant a place somewhere in Hemlock Gorge. The bathhouse will be a neat, well-finished building, containing about 40 or 50 lockers, and will prohably be ready for use some time in July. The committee hiving the matter in charge are Messrs, Mills, Temperley, Mahoney, Chesley and Hopkins.

—The lawn party given on the Wade school grounds on Saturday atternoon, June 16, was more of a success than the most sanguage of the ladies in charge had dared to anticipate. The proceeds amounted to seventy dollars and will be expended for pictures for the kindergarten and primary rooms. The party was planned especially for the young and the majority of those present were children. The entertainment in the hall was given by the Liliputian sisters, the Misses Sara and Lucy Adams. One hundred of the children had the piessure of the entertainment free of charget, and all others were charged a Lucy Adams. One hundred of the children had the obsesure of the entertainment free of charge, and all others were charged a small admission fee. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed and these little hales have a host of admirers in our village. We hope to see them with us again. So many of the village people engaged in the enterprise, it seems almost unnecessary to ineution the names of those who so freely gave of their time and means. Lemonade, cake, lee ceream, candy, fruit, fancy articles, etc., disappeared rapidly, and long before the hour of adjournment everything was sold out, and the ladies in charge of the different booths longed to have the power to repienish to meet the demands of the little hands reached out for more. In behalf of the teachers of the kinderparten and primary departments, and the master of the school, thanks are extended to every one who helped to make the day one long to be remembered by the little people of the Wade school.

Central Vermont Ealiway, is a popular trazh with persons going up to Vermont on a vacation. It gets them there at "supper time." Supper at a Vermont farmhouse is an event well sworth a half day's journey to enjoy. The real spring chickens, the eggs, the berries, the cream and the batter never tasted so good at home, and it is doubtful if you ever had them so fresh before. The glorious sunset and the stiri more glorious sunrise over the green hikis next morning will open your eyes to another charm of life on a farm. After breakfast there's a fishing trip up the mountain brook, 2 folly bour with the haymakers in the meadow or a stroil through the woods and helds full of ferns and flowers and bries and or again for the stamp of the strain of the strai

Massachusetts vs. American

Massachusetts vs. American.

As a preliminary practice to the games at the Tenth Congress of the American Whist League to be held at Niagara Falis next month, the American team of Boston—Ward, (capitain) Becker, Bonve and Fenollosa, played a match of thirty-six deals against the Massachusetts four—Whitney, (capitain) Hickox, Messer and Brimblecom, at the American Whist Club the 18th inst. At the end of the first half the Americans led by ten tricks, a lead which seemed most improbable to overcome, but the Massachu-etts formed their strongest dombination at the last half, Whitney and Hickox and Brimblecom and Messer playing together, and Massachusetts gained nine tricks on one frame of six boards, ending one to the good, twelve to cieven.

The second promenade concert at the Hunnewell Club called out an even larger growd than the preceding one, and the club agose, plagzas and grounds were filled Tuesday evening with representative people from all over the city. The same scheme of filumination was provided, and Carter's military band give a very fine program of lively music. The dancing ground was well patronized, as the cool evening made the exercise pleasurable. The weather this mouth has not been very favorable to out of door entertainments in the evening, and Tuesday night was rather uncomfortably cool, in spite of the efforts of the entertainment committee, but everything else was satisfactory, and the concert was the most successful one that has been given by the Hunne well Club.

CONTAGIOUS HOSPITALS.

The Business Men's Association of Brookline had a discussion of contagious hospitals at a meeting last week, which contained many points of interest to Newton, especially since the fire in one of our contagious wards.

The discussion was carried on by two pulyakelans, who are on the committee for

The discussion was carried on by two physicians, who are on the committee for the construction of new contagious hospitals for Brookline, which are of the same character as are urgently needed in Newton. The plans have been drawn for the buildings in Brookline, and an urgent effort is to be made to have the next town meeting make a liberal appropriation, because the whole community is directly in cause the whole community is directly in-cause the whole community is directly in-terested and protected by such hospitals. The old-fashioned idea was that any old-building would do for a "pest house" to shut out the infected persons from the world, and the proper way was to burn them up after use, so as to disinfect them. The modern contagious hospitals are very different. They serve a double pur-pose. First they aim to isolate the inmates from all danger of infecting others with from all danger of infecting others with their disease, and secondly they wish to give them the best of care, such good care, indeed, that private patients will wish to go there rather than stay at their homes and endanger, or at least discommode their

It is impossible to build these places in a compact form and not desirable to have the buildings of more than one story in height. They must be spread out to admit plenty of sunlight and air, and also to be easy of access for patients, as their hearts are weak for some time after an attack of such maladies and stair climbing would be danger-

In addition to this there must be a well accountered laundry, for the washing during an epidemic is very large, and also an incinerator for the condenned clothes and swill. The interior of the wards must have the most careful attention. The walls must be painted and without corners or careful. The floors chould be made of a must be painted and without corners or cracks. The floors should be made of a substance which is washable, quiet, and warm to the feet. Cork is the best substance yet found to fulfill these conditions, but it is too expensive, and hard pine, heavily varnished, is recommended for the Breokine buildings. The hearing apparatus must be large and elaborate, as the air must be changed often and then warmed rapidly. The windows must be large and reach to the top of the room, the doors must have transoms, and extra place for wentilation must be provided along the wentilation must be provided along the walls. The most strenuous precautions must be taken to prevent the collection of distin any way, for that gathers millions of the bacteria and would soon make the hospitals dangerous for both patients and nurses. Buildings of this character are urgently needed in Newton, and it is hoped that the Mayor and aldermen will take the matter under serious consideration.

Newton wants a new line of electrics to Boston that will pass by the new Music Hall, Mechanics building, and the Back Bay railroad stations, and a movement is on foot to induce the Boston Elevated to supply such a line. If they could also have the cars run to the South Terminal it would be all the better, as that point is now very difficult to reach from Newton. Petitions are being circulated and several second in the project. As the Newton line is one of the most profitable lines out of Boston, the Boston Elevated can hardly refuse any reasonable request that Newton fuse any reasonable request that Newton citizens make.

The AT automobile race on the boulevard dast Saturday morning was to have been a great event, but the police interfered and two men had to contribute to the city's police fund. It would be well for the racers to get a permit in advance, next time, as they can not get up early enough to evade our police. The ordinance against

THE GRAPHICS were entirely sold out last week, and although nearly every newsdealer was visited, enough copies could not be obtained to meet the demand. Those who subscribe regularly to a paper are sure of getting it, and it is not always possible to foresee any unusual demand.

THE Newton Street Railway has applied to the Waltham city government for permission to lay double tracks on Main street in that city, from Moody to Prospect street. The increasing business of the company calls for this improvement.

It is hoped that our aldermen will join the procession and forbid the sale and the use of dynamite firecrackers on the fourth. Other cities are taking this action, remembering the many serious accidents last BELMONT has a Sunday golf puzzle on its hands. A player was arrested by the police for playing on Sunday, but the selectmen would not endorse his prosecution and so the chief of police resigned.

In his address Rev. Fr. Ford said that during the four years' history of the home about 500 had been sheltered and cared for. He paid a tribute to the sisters for their teachings and also to his assistants.

The congress of mothers was in session and the delegates were paying rapt attention to the costume of the orator of the day, who was addressing them on "The Proper Organization of the Home." "The true home," she said, gracefully throwing back her head in order that the diamond sunburst at her throat should be assessed at its full value, "the true home should be organized just as any ruling or directing body is. It should be a congress, in which the wife is—" "Speaker of the House," came in a mighty chorus from the delegates. What is the use of going to a convention if you do not know what you want?"—Baltimore American.

"Ah!" softly hummed the mosquito as the sleeping victim restlessly turned over in his bed. "The other cheek! He must be a good man!"—Chicago Tribune.

Daisy Putter: "Dick says he loves me for keeps. What does that mean?" Dick: "It means forever." Ruth Wittington: "No. It means you can keep his presents if it's broken off."—Life.

WHITE FEATHER.

A Coward That Was

There is no need to mention the name of his regiment here. That is a secret that belongs to the army alone.

Suffice it to say that his comrades are proud of his name.

He should never have entered the army at all, much less a hard riding cavalry regiment which had a reputation to sustain by a yearly tribute of broken necks and collar bones.

necks and collar bones.

His proper vocation was that of a linen draper's assistant, and he had filled that occupation very satisfactorily till one evil day he had fallen in love with a girl, a silly, shallow girl, at whom no practical man or boy would have taken a second look.

whom no practical man or boy would have taken a second look.

He adored her, and she adored soldiers. In their walks abroad she would direct his steps toward the Horse guards or Wellington barracks, that she might gaze in admiration at the fine, strapping soldiers who were to be seen there, and every time she pinched his arm and exclaimed, "Oh, Jack, look at that lovely soldier?" his heart gave him a pang at the thought that he was only a draper's assistant, with nothing in common with the military but the handling of red cloth! He was a dreamer by nature, and falling in love did not lessen his weakness in this direction. Dreaming is pardonable in a poet, but an unpardonable crime in a linen draper's assistant, and as he stood at his counter his mind was far away from his work. Instead of listening to the "Forward!" of the shopwalker he could only hear the short flung ward of command and the blare. tening to the "Forward;" of the snop-walker he could only hear the short flung word of command and the blare of the bugles that sounded through his dreams; wherefore it was not long be-fore he came into conflict with his practical chief. A few sharp words passed. He threw up in three seconds a posi-tion it had taken six years of hard, un-remitting labor to attain. Then he en-

He gained his title on his first display in the riding school, where, after a short ride on the neck of the riding master's pet buck jumper, he turned deathly pale and cried aloud that he might be allowed to dismount.

The horse at once gratified his desire by throwing him on to the tan, where he lay trembling in every limb, much to the diversion of a couple of rough riders who were standing by. They were quick to inform their respective squadrons, and, his former occupation being known, he was promptly christened White Feather.

In those dark days it was the joy of the more hardy recruits to take him

In those dark days it was the joy of the more hardy recruits to take him aside solemnly and request the service of threepence 3 farthings' worth of white feathers. Any morsel of down or fluff that might float into the bar-racks was promptly captured and pre-sented to him with due ceremonies by Trumpeter Pipes, the low comedian of the regiment was a quiet and inoffensive fellow, devoid of the impudence and bad manners peculiar to recruits and respectful and helpful to his seniors.

The sergeant instructor, too, after a time took a fancy to his timid recruit and took extra trouble to learn him how to keep his heels out, his hands down and his head up.

"I've made smart cavalrymen out o' bigger duffers than you." he used to remark encouragingly as he flicked White Feather's horse into a canter, "and I'll make a rider o' you, or I'll break your neck!" White Feather's neck remained unbroken, so it is to be presumed that the sergeant instructor fulfilled his word.

Presently he began to lose the hang-that the sergeant instructor fulfilled his word.

Presently he began to lose the hangdog look of suppressed terror with which he had been accustomed to enter the riding school and to acquire the easy swagger of a cavalryman. His chest contracted by long hours at the counter, developed under healthy training. Fresh air and much exercise helped White Feather's development, which had been sadly retarded by the heavy, gas laden atmosphere in which he had lived. His nerves acquired tone, and he learned to take a tumble now and then as a matter of course and to the his carbine without shutting his eyes and blanching at the explosion of the cartridge.

"Blow me, if he isn't going to shape into a man at last!" quoth the sergeant instructor.

Then a great blow fell upon him. He received one morning a letter from the girl to tell him that she had given him up in favor of a shonwalker who him in favor of a shopwalker who had ord.

expectations of being set up in bustexpectations of being set up in business by his father. She admitted that she had adored soldiers and that she had caused him to enter the army for her sake. But she had omitted to state that the soldiers she adored were soldiers who possessed the queen's commission and who were stars instead of mission and with water states a worsted stripe.

If poor White Feather was a physical coward, he was a moral hero. There is no chance of a display of feeling in a barrack room; so, like the Spartan boy of old, he bugged his trouble to him, slipping the cheap little engagement ring with which he had senled his troth into his pocket without a sign beyond the twitching of his white lips. Then he lit his pipe with the letter, not out of contempt, but because there is little privacy accorded in the corre-spondence that comes to the barrack room, and a private soldier is not pro-vided with a desk wherein to keep his faded flowers and other sentimental to-

The blow was a very heavy one, for White Feather was without the worldly knowledge that should have told him long since that he had fixed his affections upon a vulgar, selfish and

[Special Legislative Correspondence.] Boston, June 20.

In all the history of optimism there neve In all the alsory of optimism there never has been a more marked case of faith in himself and his fellow men than that fur-nished by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who, up to date persists in believing that with proper industry the general court can finish up its work and be prorogued one week from Saturday night June 30. It might do so by remaining in session practically all the time, by referring over to the next general court practically everything outside of the Fitchburg and Albany leases and by ending in a row; but in no other way. July 15 is the earliest reasonable date that can be fixed. Any date earlier than that would be at the expense of wise legislation, though of course, the writer does not mean to say that a proper handling of business for the last three months might not have shortened this period materially.

Mr. Chadwick accomplished a very wonderful feat in getting through the bill to permit the mayor and chief of police of Newton to summon witnesses in certain investigations. Though this may be adversely reported, it is probably "iset up" to g; through, and our business governor ought to be depended upon to meet it with a veto.

As I have said, none of these things should bring discredit to His Excellency if he takes adverse action; but they certainly will give him a reputation for vetoes only second to that of our greatest veto governor.

The senate has been this week considering a constitutional amendment limiting the indebtedness of cities and towns to 2 12 per cent. of the average assessors; valuation of taxable property for the three preceeding years. In connection with this a great dead of decreasing data has been being the time of the centre of the control of the centre of midnight. The price was to remain the same, however.

There are 200 are lights, the lighting of which costs the city about $100 each. This price should be made $85, in the mayor's opinion. The gas company is unwilling, it is said, to make this concession, and the result has been an appeal by the city to the commissioners.

-Mr. James A. Jones, for many years in the wholesale and retail fancy goods business on Washington street, Boston, and later on Avon street, died last Friday at his residence in this village. He was born in Warwick, Mass., Aug. 7, 1824, and came to Boston in 1841. In 1853 he married Mary E. Shepard, sister of Mr. John Shepard of Shepard, Norwell & Co. Her death occurred in December, 1822. Mr. Jones was a man of sterling business integrity, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He retired from active business about three years ago, being in feeble health. He leaves three sons and one daughter. Two sisters also survive him. Funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Charles G. Ames, were held at the residence, Windsor road, Sunday, at 1.30 o'clock.

It was in 1894 that Stephen Crane, then an almost unknown newspaper writer, orought his "Red Badge of Courage" to D. Appleton and Company, by whom it was read and promptly accepted, and published in 1895. The same house, who have done so much in bringing out new American writers, afterward published Mr. Crane's "Maggie," and his novel "The Third Violet," and also "The Little Regiment." a volume of war studies which in a way is supplementary to the lamous "Red Badge." "The Life and Letters of Thomas H.

Richard Henry Stoddard, writing of "The Last Lady of Mulberry," by Henry Witton Thomas, says that the author "has enlarged Greater New York as Dickens enlarged London by his stories of poor life," which is certainly a remarkable tribute from a veteran man of letters to a young writer.

from a veteran man of letters to a young writer.

"The Minister's Guest," by Isabel Smith, is the latest publication in Appleton's Town and Country Library. It is a very interesting story of English life in a small manufacturing town, the minister being the pastor of a dissenting chapel, and his parishioners, middle class English people, and his parishioners, middle class English people, and indister has an afficient prejudices. The minister has an afficient prejudices. The minister has an afficient prejudices, the district of the most prompted story who keeps house for him and sees that he does not waste anything, and the guest is the daughter of a step-sister, who has been brought up in a country parsonage of the most liberal character, and by her mother's will has to spend a year before coming of age with the minister. It is not a pleasant prospect, but there is a very pretty love story that begins soon after her arrival, the hero gets entangled in many difficulties, and the interest is kept up to the end. There are some fine character skeethes, and the writer is evidently familiar with small English manufacturing towns and their people, and makes her readers know them. It some of the best of Appleton's republications.
"Bird Studies with a Camera," by Frank well written and original, and the bird student will find it a great help, especially in giving him an idea of the means to get better acquainted with these sky summer visitors. The author would spend hours in watching a sky bird, and waiting for a chance to snap a shot, but patience and an enthusiastic love of nature gave him some very successful views. There is also much information in regard to the habits of the birds, where to look for their nests, and the best way to observe them. Of all the collecting that has become such a fad, this collecting of pictures of the birds is the most to be commended and does the least hum to the birds. The camera preserves them and at the same time does then no harm, and if the book teaches others to follow in its footsteps, instead of collecting dead birds and eggs it will serve a very useful purpose. There are 110 illustrations, and these are described in an interesting way, the writer having a happy style of describing his own observations. It is published by D. Appleton & Co.

The present serious disturbances in China impart a special interest to "China: Travels and Investigations in the Middle Kingdom", by General J. H. Wilson, who has taken so conspicuous a part of late in the administration of Cuban affairs. The publishers, D. Appleton and Company, have enhanced the value of the book by an excellent map.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, President of Leland Stanford Junior University, has written an introduction for Familiar Fish, their Habits and Capture, by one of the most experienced of American inshermen. Mr. J. A. Altsheler, whose striking novel of the civil war, in Circling Camps, is just published, was the cause of an amusing discussion when his artier book, "A Soldier of Manbattan," was published in England. The English critics were enthusiastic in their praise of the power and interest of the book as a novel, but Mr. Altsheler's patriotism in writing of the relations of English and Americans just before the Revolution was taken up in the English press and made much of as an evidence of the persistence of anti-English feeling in this country. As Mr. Altsheler was influenced simply by a desire to preserve the actual spirit of the time in literary form, the seriousness of the English press over this imaginary evidence of hoscility to England had its entertaining side.

In all the multiplication of purely comtility to England had its entertaining side.

In all the multiplication of purely commercial colored pictures of birds, it is worth while to note that an opportunity to secure Ernest Seton-Thompson's pictures of birds in colors of Mr. Frank M. Chapman's in colors of Mr. Frank M. Chapman's invaluable "Bird-Life", illustrated by Mr. Ernest Seton-Thompson. The publishers of Mr. Chapman's "Bird-Life" have just issued his beautiful Bird Studies with a camera, which is conceded to be the most valuable book on bird photography yet published. The author, who is the Assistant Curator of Vertebrate Zoology in the American Museum of Natural History, and the editor of "Bird-Lore," has been filly described as "the best-equipped writer on birds in the country."

"In Circling Camps," by J. A. Altsheler, is one of the most important novels of the season. It treats of the Civil War, dating from the first arrival of Lincoln at the National capital, and makes the theme of absorbing interest. Several great battles are described with a vividness that rivals Stephen Crane, and the actual seene is made to pass before the eyes of the reader, with all its terrible slaughter, and the present fondness for real war will be abundantly satisfied with the pictures here presented. Mr Altsheler is regarded as one of the most prominent authors of the day although his books are not many. But each one shows a maturity of style and a power that makes it long to be remembered. There is a delightful freshness about his books as if the subject had never been toucied on before, and he has a vigor of description that would make any scene interesting. minister has an affliction in the shape of a miserly and sharp tongued sister, who keeps honse for him and sees that he does not waste anything, and the guest is the daughter of a step-sister, who has been brought up in a country parsonage of the most liberal character, and by her mother's will has to spend a year before coming of age with the minister. It is not a pleasant prospect, but there is a very pretty love story that begins soon after her arrival, the hero gets entangled in many difficulties, and the interest is kept up to the end. There are some fine character sketches, and the interest is kept up to the end. There are some fine character sketches, and the writter is evidently familiar with small English manufacturing towns and their people, and makes her readers know them. ### THE CHURCH AND ITS MONEY.

By Sam P. Jones.

I find that the pastors and churches

If find that the pastors and churches wherever I go are working and praying, looking to a forward movement of the church and a great religious revival. They talk like it must come, and they are right.

Paralyzed and dead as the church is, the powers that be are on a big money hunt, raising millions for the twentieth century fund. We can't go money hunting and soul hunting all on the same hunt. And until our ways please the Lord all our gifts to God are an insult to God and a snare to our own souls. God wants us, and when we give ourselves to God we will freely give all else he may demand of us. If the church had only struck out for a grand revival of religion, then our gifts would be double what they can be from a dead church.

If we preachers could only get where Gideon Owsley was when he said: "Oh, God, give me Scotland on I die." He shook all Scotland, and we could shake all America. One hundred men like D. L. Moedy was could shake this whole continent, and we have 50,000 preachers in America who are octer educated than Moody was and who are as intellectual as Moody was, and when they got the power from on high which Moody got and kept then we will have 50,000 men as efficient soul winaers as Moody was. We here about demonstrated the falsity of the old auage that "all things come to those who wait."

These reform movements in our great cites do some good, but reformation without regeneration is generally shortlived. If we get the regeneration of the individual then we can get the necessary reformation of the individual then we can get the necessary reformation of the midwidual then we can get the necessary reformation of the masses.

ALL WARS ARE COSTLY.

But in the Long Run They Prov Money Making Concerns and Great Britain H pes for Compensation.

Britain H pes for Compensation.

It is customary to suppose that war is an expensive luxury, that it is so costly an experiment that nations hesitate to engage in it for monetary if for no other reasons, and that many a difficulty will be diplomatically arranged to avoid the possibility of the enormous expenditure that armed conflict would necessitate. In spite of popular opinion, however, history proves conclusively that it is foreign to fact, and that while war is costly enough to those who are vanquished, there can be no question that it is one of the finest methods of national money making, providing it is waged successfully.

Such an historic review is particularly interesting at this time, in view of the fact that Great Britain has been called and that Great Britain has been canculated upon to make the most enormous appropriations for the purpose of carrying on the war in South Africa, and yet, in spite of the immensity of these figures, there is reason to believe that the English Government would be able to end the war with a profit to itself providing the Boers can be defeated within a comparatively short time.

There have been many wars between the nations of the world during the past thirty years, and in nearly every instance the victorious nation has been able at the close to regard its bank account with a considerable degree of complacency, and there is more than one of the powerful diplomats of Europe who would agree in the assertion that there are many things in this world that are worse than war.

TOLSTOI'S DIVERSIONS.

Tolstoi's most popular diversion just tow is chopping trees. Every afternoon, in or shine, he goes to the wood, ax in ad, to cut through a big trunk and pip it feady for the saws of his men, he has also a fondhess for bleyeling, for has bought a wheel and learned to de it, to the great astonishment of the asants on his estate. His daughters corried so much over his wheeling trips hat they eventually decided to take to the wheel themselves, so as to accompany him and care for him. They now go with him on all his exercisions,

Terrific Hallstorm.

In looking over a file of old papers of my fathers I found a brief account of a terrific hailstorm which passed over Newtor Upper Falls and vicinity Saturday afternoon, Aug. 1st, 1829. My own recollections of the tempest are perfectly clear. The morning dawned hot and sultry, as the sun climbed towards the zenith, the heat became more and more intensified and by noon was almost unbearable. It being Saturday there was no school. A few of us schoolchildren were anticipating a visit to a small huckleberry pasture near by, but our mothers declined to let us go while the day was so hot and the pelting rays of the sun so prostrating. Between one and two o'clock a dark heavy cloud rapidly gathered in the northern skies, soon changing to a coppery hue. The lightnings were rapid, erratic and vivid, almost a purple, as they chained across the heavens or down to the earth. The thunders roared peal upon peal, heavily along the track. Rain fell in torrents, reminding one of a deluge or cloud burst, followed immediately by huge hall stones of every variety of shape, with an average size of large goose eggs. This is no exaggeration, the ground was literally covered with these huge blocks of ice, for such they were, the noise and pounding of the stones upon the roofs and sides of build. by noon was almost unbearable. severe on the separation of the lack of water pressure.

The cause of the lire is thought to be the carelessness of sainters who were at work on the exterior of the house and engaged (in removing paint with the aid of alcohol lamps. The Sprague family, who occupy the house, are at present absent from the city.

It was some little time before the spread of the fames was checked, and in the second story the most damage was done. The police, under command of Lieut. John Ryan, were active with rubber blankets, and thus prevented much damage by water. The entire loss is estimated at about $1990. Mr. Caled G. Sprague is the owner of the house, which is occupied by him and Francis W. Sprague 2d and family.

The Newton High School baseball teams will close its season on Fourth of July morning with a game against a strong oine picked from the alumni of the school. The Alumni team is composed of men who were formerly most prominent in the school, while its way of the action of the school of the school were formerly most prominent in the school's athletics and who have in the past played very fast bail. If they are in good form, they should win the game.

The High School team has an enviable record to show for their year's work. Out of twenty games played, sixteen have been won and four lost. Cambridge High and Latin was the only Senior Interscholastic team to win from them. Among their vietims are Hopkinson, Brookline High, Somerville, Thayer Academy, English High, Boston Latin and Adams Academy. But in spite of the fact that there was a winning team in the field, the management received poor financial support and are now in debt. Consequently, an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged admitting to a reserved seat. All alumni of the school are expected to attend the game which will be called at 10 a. m. on the N. A. a grounds, Newton Centre. The batting order will be as follows:

On this day of joy and gladness,
Our full hearts are praising Thee;
Summer's beauty all about us,
Makes our carol glad and free.
'Is Thy hand that makes the sunshine,
Makes the flow'rs, the faces fair,
Who can lose the inspiration,
Le and beauty everywhere.
Father we praise Thee.

Safely we have reached the portals
Of this glorious world of Thine;
Eagerly we gaze beyond them,
Eyes aglow with nope benign.
Life, Thy girt, to us, Thy children,
Which 'tis ours to make or mar,
Lies before us, shining softly
With Thy love a guiding star.
Father we thank thee.

Hopeful, trustful, firm and free,
We are ever fully conscious
Of a helping hand from Thee,
And as year by year we journey,
In our hearts will beat the strain
That we carol now in gladiness.
That me carol now in gladiness.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CONTEST.

Mr. Fred H. Williams of Brookline publicly announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination in the 11th Con-gressional District. Early in the year there were several names mentioned as probable were several names mentioned as probable scandidates for this nomination—among them being ex-Mayor Curtis and Hon. W. W. Davis of Boston, Hon. William H. Cook of Milford, Hon. Frank W. Darling of Hyde Park, and Colonel Edwin V. Mitchell of Medfield. We understand that Mitchell of Medfield. We understand that all of these gentlemen have withdrawn from the contest, and so far as can be ascertained now acquiesce in the nomination of Mr. Powers, the Newton candidate, There can be no question but that there is a very general sentiment among the representative Republicans of this district in favor of giving the nomination to a Newton man this year. They recognize the fact that Newton is the only city located entirely within the limits of the district, that the Republicans of this city have always given loy al support to and substantial majorities ifor the party ticket in the years gone by, and that it has been a very long period since the Congressional candidate in the changes were needed, they should have been made in spite of public protest, but if they ought not to have been made, and the public are right, then the Herald thinks gone by, and that has been a very long period since the Congressional candidate was named from Newton. There is no lo-cality in the entire district that would be more likely to recognize this sentiment than the town of Brookline. Congressman Sprague, who has represented us at Wash Sprager, who has represented us at washington during the past four years, is a citizen of Brookline, and his first nomination, in 1896, was greatly assisted by the withdrawal of ex-Mayor Cobb from the contest in the interest of the Brookline candidate. The nomination of Mr. Candlard Dreof Protilling in 1898, was him the hour candidate. The nomination of Mr. Candler of Brookline, in 1888, was brought about in the convention by Newton delegates who had been originially pledged to the support of Levi C. Wade and Samuel L. Powers, and who after a few ballots threw their votes for the Brookline candidate and made his nomination possible. Mr. Candler will no doubt cordially bear evidence to the loyal support given him in a very close contest by both Mr. Powers and Mr. Wade on the stump, and by the Newton voters on election day. If we mistake not Brookline has had the Congressman 16 years out of the last 30, and that during that period not less than four of her distinguished citizens have represented the that period not less than four of her dis-tinguished citizens have represented the district in Congress. During the past 12 years the Republican nomination has not been outside of Brookline except when it was given to General Draper in 1892 and 1894 in other words, from 1888 to 1900 – 12 1894; in other words, from 1888 to 1990—12 years — a Brookline citizen has represented us in Congress eight years, or two-thirds of the entire period. Under these circumstances we are not ready to believe that the Republicans of Brookline will urge the womination of a Brookline candidate in the coming convention. While it is true that no particular locality is entitled to the the coming convention. While it is true that no particular locality is entitled to the nomination, neverthless it is fair to assume that there are men in all parts of the district able and worthy to represent the people in Congress. More than that, there has been a somewhat well settled policy in Massachusetts to recognize locality in the Massachusetts to recognize locality in the matter of nominations. We believe that there is a general sentiment in the district there is a general sentiment in the district this year in favor of giving this nomination to Newton, and we imagine that the Brookline Republicans will very generally acquiesce in that by reason of the cordial relations which have existed between the Republicans of Newton and those of Brookline in years gone by.

The board of aldermen saw the necessity for the new contagious ward at the Hospital, after listening to the record of the past for the new contagious ward at the Hospital, after listening to the record of the past year, and voted the $25000 asked for with out opposition. The Hospital leases the ground to the city for 99 years, the buildings will be owned by the city, and the Hospital will contract to care for the patients sent there by city authorities, at the cost price, as shown by the work of the previous year. This addition to the hospital will place Newton in the front rank of the citles of the country, as only a very few have yet taken such action though many cities are considering it, and will fall into line within a few years. Such hospitals are a necessity of modern life, where people live insuch thickly settled communities, and it is necessary for the protection of the people that all sources of contagion shall be removed as soon and as effectually as possible. The only way is by hospitals such as the one proposed and there the patients will not only receive more skillful care than they could at home. But the chance of an epidemic will be made as slight as possible. The aldermen are to be congratulated on their readiness to act in such an important case, which concerns the health of the city as a whole.

THE Boston Herald had a rather ill-natured editorial, the other day, on the matter of transfers at Walnut street and matter of transfers at Walnnt street and Commonwealth avenue, and evidently the writerhad forgotten to ask for his transfer when he paid his fare, the companies require passengers to ask for transfers when they pay their fare justas is done on all roads, and they were led to do this because it was so easy to work the roads for extra transfers, when the rule was not in force. One man as an experiment secured eleven transfers on one trip, and it was not unusual for parties to secure two or three, and usual for parties to secure two or three, and this made such a difference in the receipts this made such a difference in the receipts of the companies that they had to do something to protect themselves. It may be bad for absent minded newspaper men, but there have been no complaints to speak of and certainly the transfer privileges in Newton are generous enough to satisfy Newton are generous enough to satisfy most any one. It is possible to ride thir-teen miles on one fare if one is economically inclined and has the time. The Herald writer thought a man should be stationed at this crossing to give out transfers, as the West End;does at Dudley street where they have several cars a minute, but in Newton the cars run on twenty minute time most of the year, and the ticket man's salary would take all the net profits nine months in every

A special meeting of the board of aldermen has been called for next Monday evening to consider the offer of the Metropolitan Water board for our old reservoir on Waban Hill. The offer is said to be the payment of $60.000 outright, and also the opportunity to use 15,000,0000 gallons of water at any time during the year it may be needed from the Metropolitan system, the use of the water of said system in case of any emergency, such as the break down of any emergency, such as the break down of our engine. We also have the privilege of using the reservoir as at present for the overflow from our high service reservoir. The offer seems to be a very good one, and the only objection is said to come from the land owners adfacent to the reservoir who wish to have it removed entirely. The $60,000 is to be added to the water department sinking fund if the offer is accepted It would be a good thing to have old reseri voirs like this to dispose of every year or —At the annual meeting of the corporation of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Secretary Baer reported that in all probability Dr. F. E. Clark had followed out his original intention of leaving Pekin, China, on May 12, and thus would have been out of the dangerous district before the present troubles began. He intended reaching London via the new Trans-Siberian railroad and would probably be in London to attend the convention. Dr. Clark was re-elected president for the ensuing year.

THE LEGISLATURE.

[Special Legislative Correspondence.] Boston, June 27

The eye of practically every member of The eye of practically every member of the General Court is now focusing on prorogation day, but some members are apparently near-sighted, for instance, Speaker Myers, who thinks it is to come on Saturday next, and others who look for it next Tuesday night. A more probable date is two weeks from today, although the sessions may be prolonged a day or two more.

The Boston & Albany lease bill has had two stages of debate in the Senate and gone to the House. As the writer intimated, it has had very slight opposition in that body, most of the time being taken up with discussions on amendments. Newton's representative, Senator Ray, made several impassioned speeches in opposition to the bill, claiming it to be iniquitous, but admitted in his first speech that he had no hope of defeating it. Meanwhile, the debates on the Fitchburg lease are going on in the House. An interesting phase of the latter measure has to do with the arrangement whereby the Commonwealth sells her common stock holdings in the Fitchher common stock holdings in the Fitch-her common stock holdings in the Fitchburg to the Boston & Maine Railroad, in exchange for $5,000,000 worth of bonds at three per cent. Interest.

There is a law upon the statute-book in relation to the school fund of the State, which makes it a depository for all such securities as this $5,000,000, which is coming from the Fitchburg stock sale. The readers of the Graphic can readily see that Newton is very much interested, or should be, in having this lease bill go through, as the addition of $5,000,000 to the school the addition of $5,000,000 to the school fund means a long stride towards settlement of the vexed "mill tax" problem. The ostensible reason for anybody advocating the mill tax bill is that more money is needed for the small towns of the Commonwealth, so as to make it possible to have each child in a small community receive as good an education as the children in the larger and richer towns. For a number of years the Massachusetts school fund has been growing, its purpose being to give this very aid to the poorer communities. If it were only large enough there would be no occasion to lay a direct tax of om mill, or a half mill, upon the property of the Commonwealth for educational purposes. The argument has been that the addition of $100,000 annually to the the mill mill, upon the property of the Commonwealth for educational purposes. The argument has been that the addition of $100,000 annually to the read of the commonwealth for educational purposes. The argument has been that the laddition of $100,000 annually to the neatural growth to the schools of the State that this bill should go through. But it should be added that even this sudden acquisition of funds will not satisfy a certain class of taxationists, who believe that the theory of general taxation for the benefit of schools everywhere is correct, regardless of the question as to whether it is needed or not. These are the same people, of course, who advocate a direct inheritance tax to be divided back upon the basis of population, and no facts will change their views on the situation probably. For the present the school fund only has the use of the income from the Fitchburg bonds, but the effect is the same.

The writer has been highly complimented by Representative Chadwick for the aid he rendered the bill in relation to hearings given by the mayor and chief of police of Newton, which went through the Senate as it it were greased, late last week. It was stated in this correspondence a wcck ago that it might be expected that Senator Ray would push it alo

The mother, the father, the sister and the brother have heard much at home throughout the school year that has aroused their curiosity if not interest. Consequently, when graduation day arrives is there any wonder that the school hall is filled? In Newton, occupying almost the center of New England's leading educational district, one can but answer, "Of course not, who would think of staying away."

The close of the '99-'00 term at the High school has a solemn significance which cannot be forgotten in the excitement of company of the significance which cannot be forgotten in the excitement of com-The mother, the father, the sister and the several teachers who for their faithfulness, earnestness and heartfelt interest, have won the respect of every alumnus, graduate of 1900 and undergraduate.

Each of them was most properly fitted to perform the multitudinous duties assigned her, and therefore it will be more than a common difficulty to fill the vacancies. Whatever, may have led to the ratirement Whatever may have led to the retirement of these teachers, discussion of the subject will not alter their decisions. It is to be assumed, and at present there is nothing to indicate anything to the contrary, that all relations were of the pleasantest.

MISS JENNIE E. IRESON.

With an ardent admirer and a devoted friend in every pupil who has been a member of her classes, and an earnest patron in the mothers, fathers and relatives of those trusted to her care, Miss Jennie E. Ireson's resignation has come as an almost crushing blow to the physical culture department of the High schools. Is there anyone who has not heard of the Girls' Battalion? Can it be possible that elocationary achievements of High school pupils are not widely known? And has not everybody manifested an interest in the High school pictures that so much adorn the walls of that building?

RUSSIA HAS A CZAR UNCROWNED.

By Henry Varian.

By Henry Varian.

Two men rule Russia. One is the Czar, the other is M. de Witte. But as the latter holds the purse strings of the Empire, there is really only one man who rules in Russia—the omnipresent, all-pervading De Witte.

It is to-day in the great white Czar's domain as it was in France in the days of Richelieu. Only instead of "the Cardinal's order" it is "the Minister of Finance orders it," or "Count & Witte says so." For he is a Count now who started in the ranks and rose in a country of autocrats and aristocrats to the highest honors in the land.

Sergius Witte was born of the people. He is of German origin and saw the light first in 1849. When he left the University of Odessa he had made no record and was glad to take a minor place on the State railways. But Witte was no mere machine. He was a thinker, and he thought for others as well as himself. He rapidly built up a reputation as an organizer, and was promoted until he become station master in a way depot, which he made a model for the district. It was here his good star shone brightly. Out of an act of obelience he made his mark.

War had broker out with Turkey.

mark. War had broken out with Turkey. mark.
War had broker out with Turkey, Thousands of troops were being hurried to Bulgaria. Strict orders to station masters had been issued by the Minister of War. Obedience to these orders meant destruction to a large body of troops. Witte disobeyed the orders but saved the troops. Siberia hoomed up ahead of the daring man, but the facts leaked out and the Czar made him a director of the Imperial Railways. He soon became Minister of Railways and reformed the system.

He was also accused by jealous officials of stealing public moneys. An inquiry made him stronger than ever, and when M. Wyschnegradski broke down he was appointed Minister of Finance. Then began his life-work. He found Russian credit a sy-word. He made it strong. He found the department a chaos; he made it as orderly as a bank. He out-wired the Berlis, resoulctors in Dussian Bussian credit a sy-word. He made it strong. He found the department a chaos; he made it as orderly rs a bank. He outwitted the Berlin speculators in Russian paper, forced economy on every department of the Government and became the most cordially lated man ha Rus ia. His reform of 12:13, now slowly working out, has put gold in the Treasney and enabled the Czar to borrow in the capitals of the world. He added to his power by marrying a beautiful and brilliant woman, who wields tremendeds social Enfacede through the salons. In fact, every one who is any one attends the Countess de Witte's receptions.

As an example of M. de Witte's influence, it is related that Muravieff, the terrible exponent of Muzeovite power, at a critical period wished to declare war upon England. He had his plans before the Czar. Alexander li tened attentively. Then he said: 'Go and see M. de Witte. If he says war, war it shall be.'

THE UNDERTAKING BUSINESS THE DECLINE OF ALL MARRIAGES.

By Dr. Octavius A. White.

The decline of marriage communiced about forty years ago. At that time it was regarded with endment respect. Every young man loke? forward to the time when he would have a home of his own, and laid all his plans with such a consummation in view.

This healthy home feeling, which used to be so general, is dying out. The modern husband prefers the smoking parlor of the club to his own fireside. In my opinion clubs are altogether unnecessary for any good purpose. I do not belong to any and have never felt any desire to do so.

The multiplication of bachelor apartnents, which are notoriously places of orruption, indicates the deprayed social andition which prevails.

corruption, indicates the deprayed social condition which prevails.

The increasing number of women and girls in the industrial world is also a significant sign of the times. Women are not in the business world from choice. They have been coerced into self-support by the destruction of home life and the decline of marriage.

The prevalent fallacy that women should be bread-winners strikes a blow at the foundations of chivalry. It is both just and chivalrous that a husband should support his wife.

It is preposterous, however, to assert, as many do, that industrial conditions in any may affect marriage. Marriage is based on love, and love is not an affair of dollars and cents. Love has no ledger.

The frequency of divorce is another evidence that the marriage bond is reverenced less than it should be. The marriage service is even more solemn and subline than the burial service, yet its yows are thoughtlessly taken and lightly broken.

vows are thoughtlessly taken and lightly broken.

Divorced men and women should never be allowed to remarry. Such was unquestionably the teaching of Christ.

I do not believe there should be any civil marriages of any kind. Every ceremony should be solennized by the church and lifted above the level of a real estate transaction. The old system of publishing the bans two weeks before the marriage might be revived with good results.

It is possible that the debasement of marriage is only temporary. It may even be the preparation for a new and hetter social arrangement.

Some of the most notable advances in the history of civilization have been preceded by periods of disintegration and destruction. The holy estate of matrimony was founded by Christ, and therefore cannot be finally destroyed. Beneath it stands the whole fabric of religion.

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it.
If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all, but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.
Yours for health, C. F. Myers.

VERMONT EXTENDS WELCOMING ARMS TO

Summer in Vermont," writes a Bos tonian who is summering in Vermont, "is like summer in no other place in the world It is the summer for poets, the summer for lovers, the summer for all who can appre-ciate the beautiful gifts of nature. It is the ciate the beautiful gifts of nature. It is the summer of rest. Such seenic splendor as is spread before you, such quietude of surrounding, away from the din and push of the crowded city, means communion with nature, and that means rest. A drive on any of these beautiful June days makes me feel like throwing my hat in the air and yelling with all my lung power for old Vermont. The scenery of mountain and lake, of tumbling stream and quiet dale intoxicate the sight. Vermont has all the charms that nature can bestow. Today she is resplendent in her new dress of green—as far as the eye can reach in all directions. She seems to extend welcoming arms to the tired workers of the city and beekon them to come within the invigorating influence of her charms." The Central Vermont Railway's illustrated book on Vermont and Lake Champlain unfolds, with all the interest of a story or romance, the attractions of this beautiful land. A four-cent stamp enclosed to Mr. T. H. Hanley, New England Passenger Agent, at 306 Washington street, Boston, will bring the attractive publication by return mail. It proves conclusively that Vermont is the place in the summer time.

"Alas!" we sighed, meaning to seem very summer of rest. Such scenic splendor as is

"Alas!" we sighed, meaning to seem very sympathetic, "you have felt Britain's heavy hand." "Heavy?" exclaimed the Boor with some heat; "Britain's the most light-fingered nation we ever met up with."—Puck.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN.O preparation was left at pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee.

We have always used the best Java and

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

SETTLEMENT OF CROOKER CASE AND TEACHER OF 24 YEARS IS DEPOSED—SUPT. FIFIELD RE-ELECTED—TWO HOURS EXECUTIVE AND ONE OF OPEN SESSION—MR, DEWEY ON KINDERGARTENS.

Miss E la F. Crooker was not re-elected Miss E la F. Crooker was not re-elected at the school board meeting. Wednesday evening. She is the 5th grade teacher in the Wade building at Newton Upper Falls, whom the board failed to reappoint on recommendation of Head-master Charles G. Wetherbee, who had charged her with insubordination. The action was taken during an executive session which continued for more than two hours tinned for more than two hours.

A delegation of Newton Upper Falls residents, men and women, came down to be heard in Miss Crooker's interests. They arrived about 7.30 and were treated to seats in the lower corridor of the old Claffin school building, in which the board holds its sessions. The heat was excessive, and its sessions. The heat was excessive, and the delegation members were driven to the sidewalk, where they remained until invited to the board chamber at 9.15.

The hearing was also conducted in executive session. All that the delegation did tive session. All that the delegation did was to express itself as firmly convinced of Miss Crooker's ability and efficiency, and also lamenting her possible retirement. Having said this the visitors from Upper Falls were excused, and the board continued its transaction of business still remaining in executive session.

There were several appointments to be considered, among them the re-election of Supt. of Schools Flifeld, which was unantously carried.

The several properties of the properties was not to secure any information researching the board's action relative to the Crooker case. The secretary of the board declined to talk, having received instructions to that effect.

Chairman F. T. Benner of the board said, however, that Miss Crooker had not been reappointed. Further than this he would not talk about the subject,

IN OPEN SESSION.

IN OPEN SESSION.

Mr. Bacon of Waban urged the need of a kindergarten in his village. There would be no expense, he declared, as the city rovernment had already provided for the furnishing of two additional rooms in the Waban building.

Mr. Dewey, chairman of the finance committee, and always careful that everything pertaining in any way to that committee is carefully scrutinized, said he believed there was echnically an expense. This he considered to be the appointment of a teacher. Continuing, Mr. Dewey said, "As for kindergartens I never had any use for them. They are an ou rage on the community. They are nothing but day nurseries and a place to amuse children. We keep them as clean as we can, and out of mischief. There is no hurry about this matter. The people of Waban can wait sixty days until the finance committee considers the subject, and if I had my way they would be always waiting."

Further consideration of the order establishing the Waban kindergarten resulted in its adoption and Amy Harding Nye was appointed kindergartener.
On recommendation of the committee on schoolhouses it was decided that the board indorse the action of the city government in the purchase of land between Hammond street and Manet road, Chestnut Hill, for the purposes of erecting a school building. It was shown that there were a number of pupils in the Chestnut Hill district for whom was necessary to provide accommitations.

street and Manet road, Chestnut Hill, for the purposes of erecting a school building. It was shown that there were a number of pupils in the Chestnut Hill district for whom it was necessary to provide accommodations.

It was voted to request the city government to provide accommodations for the surplus of pupils in the Williams school district at Auburndale. Mr. Hardy of the Ward 4 committee said the overcrowded condition demanded it and told of a vacant house and a newly erected barn which he thought could be secured.

The superintendent was authorized to consider the matter of employing the aid of a public school inspector whose duties would be to inquire into the ability and efficiency of the teachers of the Newton St. The superintendent was a nuthorized to the public school inspector whose duties would be to inquire into the ability and efficiency of the teachers of the Newton St. The superintendent was also authorized.

The superintendent was also authorized to investigate what effect, physical and otherwise, interscholastic athieties had apon pupils. Mr. Gorham of Ward 3 who introduced the order, sald he had consulted with a friend of his who was engaged in teaching physical culture and that the latter told him that training such as prescribed by Hanlon and other professionals, had a severe effect on the pupils and that they were "burnt out" and unable to give proper attention to their studies.

acquiring plans, blue prints, etc., owned by Miss Edith A. Matteson, special teacher of sloyd.

A refer requesting the city government of the Thomps so will be school building was unanimously adopted. Mr. Avery of Ward 2, who introduced it, said it had been adopted for five consecutive years in the school board and turned down as many times by the city government. He had hopes for success this year however.

An order was also adopted requesting the city government to provide a kindergarten for pupils of West Newton hill, east of Chestnut street.

The committee on schoolhouses reported in favor of the erection of a new school building at Newton Upper Falls on the site of the Wade building. The order to this effect will be sent to the city government with a request that provision for the new building be made as soon as the city's finances will permit of it.

The sum of $$20,159 was appropriated for the school department expenses during June.

Messrs. Hardy and Howard were appointed a committee to wait upon Miss Jennie E. Ireson, teacher of physical call ture and elocution, in order to ascertain if she would reconsider her resignation.

Resolutions expressive of Miss I reson's fauthfulness in securing pletures for the adornment of the corridor walls of the High school were adopted. They were presented by Mr. Rand of Ward 6 and four other members of the board each confessed that they had come armed with similar resolutions.

report:—The following teachers have declined, for various reasons, their appointments made at the May meeting of the board:—
High school, Sarah M. Dean; Clailin school, Mabel J. Folsom; Hyde school, Teresa Glasheen; Williams school, Matel W. Fuller; Special Teacher of Physical Culture, Jennie E. Ireson of Sloyd, Edith A. Matteson; Special Teacher of Physical Culture, Jennie E. Ireson of the Company of the Grant of the Company of the Hydrogen of the Clity Government an additional appropriation for continuing the present arrangement of transferring part of the pupils between Newton and Newtonville.

Last January the board authorized the succeintendent to employ assistance in his office from February 1st to July 1st 1900 at an expense not exceeding $7 per week. This arrangement has been so satisfactory to all parties that it seems desirable that it should be continued from Sept. 1st, 1900, until Jan. 1st, 1901, when it seems to me very possible that we could secure an appropriation on our salary list for the purpose. I would therefore, respectfully request that the board take such action in this matter as it shall deem warranted.

Since the last meeting of the board I have received from several masters reports of additions to the funds for purchase of pictures for the school rooms. The Petree district reports an increase of $1. to the $57.20 reported previously. The Williams district has raised a good sum, and the Wade distret has placed in my hands a check for $155.
